Record Vote Seen In Election In Manitoba To-day

Cloudless Day and Roads in Excellent Condition Attract People in Throngs to Polls in Prairie Province, Where New Legislature Being Chosen

COALITION FORCES LED BY BRACKEN

Winnipeg, June 16.—Attracted to the polls by perfect, warm weather, Manitoba electors were casting a record vote to-day in the provincial general election. Voting was taking place in all but two of the fifty-five constituencies.

Ten per cent of Winnipeg's 118,000 qualified voters were estimated to have cast their ballots two hours after the polls had opened this morning.

Voting in the country was reported to be unprecedentedly heavy. The roads were in good condition, and farmers and their families made it a point to visit the polling centres early.

Voting in all constituencies outside Winnipeg will cease at 7 p.m., when the city polls close in an hour later.

MINISTRY IS COALITION

As head of the Progressive Party, Hon. John Bracken has been Premier since 1922. He was returned to power in the general election of 1927 with increased strength.

In the present contest he has the aid of the official Liberal party, having elected a coalition by taking three Liberals into his cabinet.

With 145 candidates contesting the fifty seats, 140 went to the post-to-day. In two far northern constituencies, The Pas and Rupert's Land, the polling will be held in July. Mr. Bracken himself is running in The Pas. The Liberal-Progressive and Conservative each had forty-eight candidates in the field to-day. The non-coalition wing of the Liberal party had fourteen, and the Conservatives had fifteen independent of various stripes, and three Communists.

The issue, therefore, was between the two major parties, although the Labor and Liberal groups hoped to elect enough candidates to hold the balance of power in the event of Government and Conservative forces running nearly neck and neck.

STRAIGHT CONTESTS

There were straight fights between Liberal-Progressives and Conservative candidates in twenty-three single-member constituencies.

PREMIER OPPOSED TO McRAE FARMER PLAN

Premier S. F. Tolmie does not favor bringing into this province a large number of immigrants to be placed on Peace River lands, he said to-day.

The comment was made when the Premier was asked his views upon a proposal to bring out British immigrants and mingle them with Canadians in a back-to-the-land movement.

Premier Tolmie stated that he considered those people already settled on the land and those Canadians willing to embark upon agriculture as a means of livelihood, should be assisted rather than newcomers.

Forest Fires North of Lake Superior Grow

Light Rain Comes; Hopes of People Fade as Sun Again Dries Out Woods

Port Arthur, June 16.—It sprinkled just a few drops of rain when the country needed a downpour in the Thunder Bay district to-day and hopes that rain would check a series of stubborn forest fires were dashed.

As a bright sun resumed its work of scorching already dried-out woodlands, leaving them easy prey to flames in nearly a dozen districts, forestry headquarters here moved to bring the scattered force of fire-fighters in the lake-head area to a strength of 1,000.

It was stated an additional 300 men, to reinforce the 700 who have fought flames all this week in the fire-blackened northwest country, would be at work before nightfall. Forestry officials anticipated no let-up by the fires for several days.

ROTARY MAKES GREAT STRIDES

Assembly Learns Seventy-three New Clubs Formed This Year

Extension Work of James Davidson of Calgary Praised By Rotary Governors

Seventy-three new Rotary clubs in twenty-eight countries have so far been formed this year, it was announced this morning by J. Murray Hill, Bowling Green, Kentucky, chairman of the extension committee, Rotary International, in addressing the International Assembly at the Empress Hotel on Extension—the responsibility for organizing new clubs.

"This we consider a record in which Rotary may take exceptional pride," said Mr. Hill in making the announcement of Rotary development which, he said, was driving forward despite the troubled times.

Tribute was paid by Mr. Hill to the wonderful extension work of James Davidson of Calgary on his trip to New Zealand and Australia and later on his sweep around the world.

The speaker referred to the voluntary effort of Rotary, and remarked that the acid test came, not so much through what was obtained, but rather by the manner in which the storm, through which the world is passing, is being weathered.

Mr. Hill eulogized the work of James Skewes, Meridian, Miss., organizing new Rotary clubs. He displayed a genealogical chart showing the phenomenal growth of Rotary.

CUBAN PHILOSOPHY
Luis Machado y Ortega, colorful Cuban of Havana, held the interest of the governors in speaking on the aims and objects of Rotary. He humorously suggested that his conferees "get to know the forward pass—don't work when you can get the other fellow to do it."

SCENE OF U.S. REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

President Hoover (left) and Vice-President Curtis (right) were renominated by the Republican Convention of the United States to-day in the Chicago stadium, pictured above. This was the third and last day of the convention. When the picture above was taken the workmen were finishing their task of preparation, soon after the seats were placed on the floor and the amplifiers were in place. The great hall seats more than 25,000. In it two weeks hence the Democratic National Convention will be held.

DOLLAR LOSES ON EXCHANGE

Canadian Press
New York, June 16.—After early strength, the Canadian dollar closed 1-16 cent lower on the local foreign exchange market at 80 1-16 cents to-day. The pound sterling closed 1 1/2 cents lower at $3.63 1/2 for cables.

STOCK JUGGLING CHARGES HEARD

Washington, June 16.—William Fox was charged before the Senate banking committee to-day with "rocking" the Fox Film and Fox Theatre Corporations through stock manipulations. The charge was made by William A. Gray, committee counsel, after a long investigation into New York brokerage accounts. He also charged Fox with a $3,300,000 income tax evasion.

Gray addressed the committee when counsel for Fox said he was sick in his hotel room here and could not appear. The committee immediately sent a physician to examine Fox and determine whether he would appear this afternoon.

"I intend to show," Gray continued, "that Fox organized and controlled the Fox Film and Fox Theatre Corporations, owning 100 per cent of the stock in one and 51 per cent in the other. I will show that while he owned and controlled this stock he used it in any way he saw fit for his own purposes and for the purposes of the companies."

ABDUCTED MAN IS RELEASED

Gunmen Free Illinois Citizen After Holding Him All Night

Ottawa, Ill., June 16.—Gilbert Mitchell, Marquette business man, was released in Chicago to-day by gunmen who liberated three suspected bank robbers from La Salle County Jail here yesterday. They abducted him during their escape and held him prisoner all night, he informed his office by telephone.

E. J. Weiler of La Salle County, who went to Chicago yesterday as the most likely place to find the jail breakers, reported he had arrested Jack Sherman, alias Jack Dempsey, early to-day in the metropolis and was holding him for investigation.

U.S. BONUS HITS SENATE SNAG

Washington, June 16.—The $2,400,000,000 cash bonus bill was voted adversely to-day by the Senate finance committee.

The bill will be reported immediately to the Senate and an attempt made to get a vote there as soon as possible.

Leaders already were confident of a sufficient vote to kill the bill, but they were reassured by the size of the opposition committee vote.

CANDIDATE IS EJECTED

Chicago stadium, June 16.—Dr. Joseph L. France of Maryland was forcibly ejected from the speakers' platform at the Republican National Convention here to-day as he sought to get the floor.

His name had just been placed in nomination and his plan had been to make a nomination himself in behalf of former President Coolidge.

"They will have to carry out a presidential candidate to stop me," Dr. France had told newspaper men. Police did practically carry him out a few minutes later.

Eighty-three Pound Spring Caught in Arm

Tom Astel Believed to Have Landed Biggest Fish Ever Taken in Saanich Inlet; James Fairall Tells of Great Catch Made in 1893.

Who has caught the largest salmon in Saanich Inlet?

When Roy P. Thompson landed a fifty-three and a half pound spring at Brentwood last Sunday some anglers thought that it was a record and that Thompson was entitled to the title of champion of all time. But those fishermen's memories are very short for only three years ago James Fairall of 805 Springfield Road caught a sixty-four pounder. It happened on June 21, 1929.

"Jim," however, lays no claims to the title of champion of all time, because he remembers what the fishermen used to hook many years ago.

"Why, away back in 1893 I remember Tom Astel and Ned Wilkinson came into our brewery on Esquimalt Road and had five fish that went over 300 pounds," said "Jim." "You see the boys always came into our brewery to weigh the fish on their way home and we kept a record of them. Two weeks after that big catch Tom Astel, who was foreman of the Esquimalt Waterworks, brought in an eighty-three-pound spring and I think that will take some beating."

"Jim" says he has been fishing at Brentwood for forty-four years and has made some big catches there. He is a firm believer in using rowboats. The gas boats drive the fish down too deep, he says. Here are a few of the catches he has made this year:

March 6—J. Fairall and F. Jenkins left Victoria at 1 p.m. and returned at 5 p.m. with limit bag grille and springs (absolute bait).

March 30—J. Fairall and Joe Foster

Only One Ballot Needed To Put U.S. President In The Field For Re-election

VICTORIA HAS 21,000 VOTERS

Registration Closes Saturday Evening; Canvassers Praised For Careful Work

Approximately 4,000 New Voters Registered; Old List Had 19,000 Names

Approximately 21,000 names have been placed on the new Provincial Voters' List during the recent registration campaign, W. C. Winkel, superintendent of registration, staged this morning. The office in the Sayward Building will remain open until 9 o'clock on Saturday evening to enable persons missed by the canvassers to register.

Registrations are still being made at the rate of about sixty daily. Mr. Winkel estimates that approximately 2,000 names on the old list of 19,000 names would have been removed by the Court of Revision, to be held on July 18, at the Courthouse, before Judge Lampan. On that basis he considered that the new registration had added about 4,000 names to the list of those eligible for the provincial franchise.

"The work of the sixty canvassers engaged in this registration has been most satisfactory. The enumerators proved themselves men of a high order, imbued with a keen desire to be accurate and careful. Only 511 forms were returned to the canvassers for rectification of minor details," stated Mr. Winkel, being corroborated by J. B. Clearhouse, deputy superintendent, representing the Liberal Party.

REVISION NOTE AT LAUSANNE

Opening Reparations Conference, MacDonald Says Facts Must Be Faced

By GEORGE HAMBLETON, Canadian Press Staff Writer
Lausanne, Switzerland, June 16.—"Both sides of all agreements must ever be ready to face the facts," declared Premier MacDonald, of Great Britain to-day in opening the Lausanne Conference on reparations and war debts.

No one challenged the principle that engagements solemnly entered into could not be broken by one-sided repudiation. Mr. MacDonald told the delegates of eighteen nations. But, he added, the principle carried the consequence that "engagements which have been proved incapable of fulfillment should be revised by agreement."

"We must all welcome the assurance," Premier MacDonald added, "that after the present phase is over the United States has encouraged us to believe it will co-operate in the examination at any rate of some of the wider problems, and join with us in devising a policy for the maintenance of a civilization based on the prosperity of all nations, obtained by a busy industry and international exchange and a happy life enjoyed by the masses of people."

MUTUAL GAINS GOAL OF EMPIRE ASSEMBLY

More Trade and Freer Trade Within Commonwealth Objective of Ottawa Gathering, Thomas Tells British Commons

London, June 16.—It is the duty of the Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa, representing one-quarter of the world, to direct its energies to getting for the empire more trade and freer trade, according to Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Dominions Secretary, who addressed the Commons this afternoon at the opening of a full debate on the Ottawa conference.

The debate was initiated by Mr. Thomas on the estimates of expenses for the Dominions' Office. He said that throughout the empire no conference had ever been anticipated with more justifiable hope and consequently the participants must not minimize its importance, nor disappoint the great mass of people who were placing their faith in it.

Mr. Thomas said that if the conference succeeded in its aims—more and freer trade in the empire—it would be a wonderful example to the world. Tariff barriers could be broken down only by use of the tariff weapon, which Britain now possessed.

He emphasized that other empire countries were entitled to develop their own interests, but while the Dominions must be allowed to look after their own interests, the same principle must be applied to the United Kingdom.

LEGISLATURE CUT OPPOSED

Liberal Leader Claims It Would Be Inimical to Public Welfare

Some Members Now Have Too Much Territory; T. D. Pattullo Claims

Retrial of suggestions for a reduction in the membership of the B.C. Legislature drew comment to-day from T. D. Pattullo, Liberal Leader, who voiced the opinion that a slashing cut in representation would be inadvisable. A small reduction in membership would make comparatively little difference. A big cut would be inimical to the public welfare, he says.

"Due to the fact that the world economic system is at present out of gear," Mr. Pattullo commented, "many suggestions are being made in various spheres of public activity, for example, it is suggested that the Legislature of British Columbia should be very much reduced in numbers, and by so doing the government would not be subjected to so many importunities, and the result would be a considerable saving of money."

"Practical experience teaches that importunities from members are comparatively few. The importunities arise principally from militant minorities outside of the House.

"To reduce or increase membership in the Legislature by three or four members would make comparatively little difference. To make a slashing cut in the present membership of the Legislature would be inimical to the public welfare. British Columbia has a very large area, with a sparse population, most of which is concentrated in a small area. Representation exclusively on a basis of population

PROHIBITION TEST BY STATES

U.S. Republican Convention, Opposing Referendum, Declares For Sectional Votes

By Ken Clark, Canadian Press Staff Writer
Chicago, June 16.—Herbert Hoover remains Chief of the Republican Party. On every point the administration comes here ruled the 1,154, theoretically free Republican delegates at the party's national convention in the stadium here where two weeks hence the Democratic convention will be held.

Only on one issue was there a serious threat of revolt—whether the party should declare for repeal of the Thirteenth Amendment, which is the prohibition law. The question was thrown back into Congress by the President's plank asking that body to submit an amendment to the states to be acted on by state conventions.

The vote supporting the plank as against a straight repeal proposal, presented by Senator Hiram Bingham of Connecticut, was 681 to 472.

In the great smoke-filled flag-draped hall of Chicago's Stadium yesterday evening there was a row over prohibition. Spectators booed and jeered. Some delegates pranced in the aisles waving beer steins, some tried to seize state standards for a parade. But there

MUCH CHEERING AS DECISIONS MADE

Chicago, June 16.—Making almost a clean sweep of the first and only roll call, President Hoover was renominated to-day by the Republican National Convention, which had spent nearly all its concluding session shouting his praises. The rolling tide of his support lifted his total to 1,126 1/2 out of the 1,154 votes in the convention.

The others were scattered in the official computation as follows: Senator John J. Blaine of Wisconsin, 13.
Former President Calvin Coolidge of Massachusetts, 4 1/2.
Dr. Joseph L. France of Maryland, 4.
Former Senator James W. Wadsworth of New York, 1.
Former Vice-President Charles G. Dawes, 1.
Not voting, 3; absent, 1.

MADE UNANIMOUS
When the result was announced, Chairman Snell said a motion was in order to make it unanimous for Mr. Hoover, Milton Klepper of Portland, Oregon, made it, and it was adopted with a great shout.

CURTIS RENOMINATED
Charles Curtis was renominated for the vice-presidency.

To-day's proceedings, were a one-ballot walkway for President Hoover. A long, noisy, and colorful demonstration would not be permitted. The renomination had been forecast months ago, and it only remained for the assembled delegates to give to their ratification the stamp of unmistakable emphasis. This they did, with trimmings.

TERMINAL CITY PIONEERS MEET

Gathering of 217 at New-castle Island Addressed by Premier Tolmie

Special to The Times
Nanaimo, June 16.—Two hundred and seventeen pioneers of Vancouver held their annual picnic at Newcastle Island yesterday. Premier Tolmie was present, and addressed the gathering. Referring to the forthcoming Imperial Conference, he said he expected good would come from it in building up trade within the Empire.

If only British Columbia could secure 15 per cent of the soft wood trade, it would mean a great benefit for the province. The Premier was very optimistic on the wheat crop. He said he had seen splendid fields of wheat on his return from Ottawa, and it would sell for 75 cents a bushel, according to information, and would increase trade and boost conditions in the west.

He referred to attending the celebration at Mount Rainer to commemorate the memory of the first white man to ascend, who was his own father. He received an ovation at the conclusion of his address. Judge Porin, Vancouver, president of the association, was master of ceremonies.

At the same time, said Mr. Thomas, the aim should be to have a conference which would be a mutual gain for all. "That," he said, "we shall be meeting representatives of our own and kin-men vitally anxious to reach agreement."

There was a tremendous advantage in the good will, he said. There had also been a great deal of preparation.

DELAYS NOT WANTED
The United Kingdom Government had definitely come to the conclusion, which was shared by the Dominions, that they must prove themselves business-like and not have a long-drawn-out conference, the minister proceeded. No possible preparatory work on this side had been left undone and if the others had acted likewise the conference would not fail.

Mr. Thomas dwelt at length on the Canadian Government's difficulties, owing to the long distances involved in completing the agenda for the conference, but he said he could give the general lines of the subjects to be discussed.

First came trade questions—what steps could usefully be taken as between one dominion and another for the mutual advantage of each other's trade. That raised definitely and clearly the questions of tariffs and Imperial Preference.

The United Kingdom had made a great contribution to good will in this connection by giving Dominion goods free entry to our markets. Mr. Thomas said, referring to the exemption, until November, of Empire goods from the provisions of the new Import Duties Act.

WAGE ORDER FOR FRUIT WORKERS

B.C. Board Makes Rate 27 Cents an Hour on Weekly Basis

Canadian Press
Vancouver, June 16.—A temporary amendment to the order governing the fruit picking and canning industry in British Columbia has been decided on by the Minimum Wage Board, administering the statute, according to Adam Bell, chairman of the board and Deputy Minister of Labor.

Last year the board received petitions from many growers' organizations asking the minimum wage be suspended, which the board refused. With the approach of the fruit picking season this year, similar petitions, asking the board to reduce the wage, were presented.

Certain petitioners requested the wage be reduced from the present rate of thirty cents an hour to twenty-two cents an hour, bringing it to the level of the Ontario rate. It was claimed the fruit picking and canning industry here suffered from eastern competition, to the disadvantage of the workers and the industry generally.

TIME IS FACTOR
Under the provisions of the act, the board may call a conference composed of representatives of employers, employees and the public, to deal with matters of this kind. On the recommendation of the conference a new order may be made, by which order becomes effective two months after promulgation. It was realized, however, that the time involved in such a procedure would preclude the value of any amendment so far as this season was concerned.

The act also gives the board authority to amend an order in cases of emergency without calling a conference.

To meet the peculiar requirements of the present situation, the board decided as a temporary measure to authorize a rate of twenty-seven cents an hour, but only if the full week is worked, and is effective from June 15, 1932, until November 15, 1932.

The reduction does not apply to any employee who works less than forty-eight hours a week, and who must be paid the same hourly rate as formerly, nor does it apply to inexperienced persons who shall receive twenty-three cents an hour as formerly.

NEW ORGANIZATION
The United Kingdom government will advocate the establishment of machinery representing the dominions that will keep them in daily contact with each other. These dominions, said Mr. Thomas, included the whole question of currency. No conference could hope in a few weeks to settle that important and debatable subject, but much preparatory work could be done and the government attached great importance to it.

MIGRATION QUESTION
Another matter that must be considered was migration, bearing in mind, Mr. Thomas warned, that the must depend on restoration of prosperity in the dominions.

"We go to Ottawa," Mr. Thomas concluded, "prepared to examine every question on its merits, prepared to approach every problem, remembering our responsibilities and obligations, but all the time keeping in mind the wider and bigger view of the situation. If we can show by our example that the British Commonwealth can be a better world, that it can help each other, what an example that will be to the world."

COAL DEBATE AT CONFERENCE

Canadian Press
London, June 16.—The question of arrangement of dealing with the problems of the coal industry at the Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa had been receiving the British government's consideration for some time. Mr. H. J. Thomas, Secretary for Dominions, told the Commons this afternoon in answer to questions. The departments concerned had been in consultation with representatives of the coal trade, said the minister. He gave assurance adequate provision would be made by the United Kingdom delegation for dealing with the coal question.

Two new fires were reported to-day, both west of here—at Shababqua and Lac de Millie.

QUEBEC FIRES
Rouyn, Que., June 16.—Exhausted fire-fighters were able to get some rest to-day after two nights of struggling against forest fires that momentarily threatened to sweep through the town of Rouyn and Noranda. At night long fire rangers and volunteers fought of the blaze and to-day had the satisfaction of seeing all buildings at the outskirts intact.

On the hill at the edge of the adjoining mining town, the fire still was forcing its way through the timber, but for the time being at least the community was safe.

WIND ADDS TO MENACE
For two days the flames have been working their way toward the town. Yesterday the fire-fighters were given added anxiety by a high westerly wind. Every available man was rushed to the edge of the town, where the flames were within 150 feet of the Nipissing Central Railway station and the scattered homes of miners.

In the light of the fires, dimmed by heavy smoke, the men toiled through the night.

As day broke, the crackle of flames continued its threat in the nearby bush, but hopes were high that serious danger was over.

Rain still held off and until nature aids the efforts of the men may have to be kept on watch.

member constituencies. Three or more sought honors in the other ridings outside Winnipeg and a field of twenty-nine was in the battle here. Ten seats were up for decision in Winnipeg and voting was under the proportional representation system.

One of the most interesting fights in the province to-day was that in Portage la Prairie, where Lieut.-Col. F. G. Taylor, Conservative leader, was opposed by Hon. Ewan McPherson, former member of Parliament and a Liberal, who was taken in the Bracken Cabinet as Provincial Treasurer. It was a straight contest between the two.

Hon. Albert Prefontaine, Minister without portfolio, was opposed by Maurice Dupre, Conservative in Opposition, and Hon. W. R. Clubb, Minister of Public Works, had a straight fight in his constituency of Morris, his opponent being C. D. McNulty, Conservative.

Other ministers had four-cornered contests. Hon. R. A. Hoy, Minister of Education, was seeking election in St. Clements, opposed by a Conservative, Labette and Independent, Hon. D. G. McKenna, Minister of Agriculture, had similar opposition in Landsdowne. Hon. Murdoch MacKay, Minister without portfolio and former Liberal leader, met a Conservative and Continuing Liberal in Springfield.

LEADERS SPOKE
Yesterday party leaders delivered their final shots in the campaign. Mr. Bracken said: "If attendance at meetings is any criterion of success at the polls there is not much hope for the Conservative Party. At every place we have been attended at our meetings was greater than at Conservative meetings. We proposed reduction in the number of seats to thirty-five, but the Conservatives said they would fight the proposal to the ditch. For that reason we did not proceed with redistribution."

While the cabinet has been increased, three independent members are without portfolio and without pay."

TAYLOR'S FORECAST
Lieut.-Col. F. G. Taylor, Conservative leader, said: "The Bracken government is doomed. The Conservatives have come back with thirty seats, Mr. Bracken cannot come back with one-third of thirty seats."

"The Conservative Party when returned to power and proposes to reduce the number of members of the Legislature from fifty-five to thirty-five or forty. That would mean a considerable saving and the affairs of the province would be better run. The Conservative Party also proposes to make a reduction in the number of members in the cabinet from eleven to eight, and perhaps the cabinet would be a little better. It has resulted only in an increase of three ministers."

WAGE ORDER FOR FRUIT WORKERS

B.C. Board Makes Rate 27 Cents an Hour on Weekly Basis

Canadian Press
Vancouver, June 16.—A temporary amendment to the order governing the fruit picking and canning industry in British Columbia has been decided on by the Minimum Wage Board, administering the statute, according to Adam Bell, chairman of the board and Deputy Minister of Labor.

Last year the board received petitions from many growers' organizations asking the minimum wage be suspended, which the board refused. With the approach of the fruit picking season this year, similar petitions, asking the board to reduce the wage, were presented.

Certain petitioners requested the wage be reduced from the present rate of thirty cents an hour to twenty-two cents an hour, bringing it to the level of the Ontario rate. It was claimed the fruit picking and canning industry here suffered from eastern competition, to the disadvantage of the workers and the industry generally.

TIME IS FACTOR
Under the provisions of the act, the board may call a conference composed of representatives of employers, employees and the public, to deal with matters of this kind. On the recommendation of the conference a new order may be made, by which order becomes effective two months after promulgation. It was realized, however, that the time involved in such a procedure would preclude the value of any amendment so far as this season was concerned.

The act also gives the board authority to amend an order in cases of emergency without calling a conference.

To meet the peculiar requirements of the present situation, the board decided as a temporary measure to authorize a rate of twenty-seven cents an hour, but only if the full week is worked, and is effective from June 15, 1932, until November 15, 1932.

The reduction does not apply to any employee who works less than forty-eight hours a week, and who must be paid the same hourly rate as formerly, nor does it apply to inexperienced persons who shall receive twenty-three cents an hour as formerly.

REVISION VOTE AT LAUSANNE

Hotel Beauveige. Eighteen nations were represented—Great Britain, Canada, Australia, South Africa, New Zealand, France, Italy, Japan, Belgium, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, Rumania, Greece, Poland, Portugal, Germany, Bulgaria and Hungary.

UNANIMOUSLY ELECTED
A few moments before he spoke, Premier MacDonald, on the motion of Premier Herriot of France, seconded by Foreign Minister Dino Grandi of Italy has been unanimously elected chairman of the conference.

Delegates, advisers and special correspondents from everywhere packed the Salle des Fêtes of the Beauveige, where the plenary meetings will be held, while outside a police cordon, taking no chances, kept a large and curious crowd at a distance.

Even guests of the hotel found the customary side paths through the gardens closed and had to make long detours.

VON PAPPEN THERE
Immediately to Premier MacDonald's right sat Premier Herriot, who went into office following the general elections in France last month. To the British statesman's left was Franz von Pappen, new Chancellor of Germany, his hands clasped over the head of his cane, on which he always leans, and next to Von Pappen was Sir Herbert Samuel, British Home Secretary.

CRISIS UNPRECEDENTED
Premier MacDonald left no illusions in his attitude toward the task of the conference. Reparations were a subject which began, but statesmanship must go further, he said.

"We meet under the shadow of the most ominous economic crisis that ever afflicted the world in times of peace," Mr. MacDonald slowly emphasized, "and the whole world looks to us as it has never looked to an international conference before to find agreement to adjust inequalities and to put an end to its existing distresses."

Mr. MacDonald pointed to falling international trade and growing unemployment.

"It is a world catastrophe. No matter what color of government we are in authority, the states were being impoverished and incomes of nations were going down. Humanitarian work had to be done, and the world was through many years had to be slackened if bankruptcy was to be avoided."

Methods of reaching government agreements by international conference were undergoing the supreme test, Mr. MacDonald said. Action with speed was the essence of the conference's task. Agreement reached quickly would yield 100 times more benefit than after long-drawn-out discussions, after long-drawn-out discussions, after long-drawn-out discussions.

"Despair is a fortress which must be carried by storm," Premier MacDonald declared. "It cannot be conquered by a long siege. Despair rarely sinks to acquiescence."

DISARMAMENT QUESTION
Premier MacDonald touched on armaments. Success at Lausanne could not be fully repeated without success at Geneva, where the World Disarmament Conference was meeting, he said. Statesmanship must secure a period of settled political tranquility in which the nations, putting their economic affairs in order, would not be distracted by the dread of war or rumors of war.

"At some point in our deliberations," he significantly added, "we may have to turn our minds to that."

The heads of the delegations of the inviting nations—Britain, Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, and Japan—were in the afternoon and further considered procedure.

To-morrow the delegates will hold a second plenary meeting, when Chancellor von Pappen will probably state the German case.

Would Let Light In On Corporations

Washington, June 16.—Legislation requiring big corporations to open their books to the public was recommended by the United States Senate banking committee by Professor William Z. Ripley as a cure for stock manipulation.

Obviously impressed by Ripley's testimony, Senator Coughlin of Michigan, Republican member of the committee, announced immediately he would prepare such legislation.

The noted Harvard economist also urged legislation to require officers of corporations to reveal their holdings in the stocks of their own companies.

Committee members listened attentively as Professor Ripley denounced speculation by officers of corporations in their own stock and various other practices.

"One of the best tests of those who are looking for investments is whether those in charge of the ship are staying with it or whether they already are in lifeboats directing the ship by radio," Ripley said, as the committee laughed at his picturesque language.

"That's what happened in Gillette and Kreuger and Toll," the economist added.

Ripley specifically recommended that all corporations over a certain size, doing interstate business, should be required to file frequent reports with the government on their earnings, depreciation and other operating data.

QUEBEC DEATH
Quebec, June 16.—Joseph Picard, general manager of the Rock City Tobacco Company and prominent educationist of this city, died at his home yesterday in his sixty-ninth year.

It takes only one bottle of Dr. J. S. Leonard's prescription — HEM-ROID — to end itching, bleeding, protruding piles. This internal remedy acts quickly even in old, stubborn cases. HEM-ROID succeeds because it heals and restores the affected parts and removes blood congestion in the lower bowel—the cause of piles. Only an internal medicine can do this, that's why salves and cutting fail. MacFarlane and Vancouver Drug Stores say HEM-ROID Tablets must end your misery or money back. (Adv.)

It takes only one bottle of Dr. J. S. Leonard's prescription — HEM-ROID — to end itching, bleeding, protruding piles. This internal remedy acts quickly even in old, stubborn cases. CONFEREES HAVE POLICE GUARDS

Measures Taken to Prevent Unwelcome Incidents at Lausanne

By GEORGE HAMBLETON, Canadian
Press Staff Writer

Lausanne, Switzerland, June 16.—The Swiss police have thrown a wide net of protection around the Lausanne Conference, which to-day started its task of tackling the vital problems of reparations, war debts and the financial crisis in central Europe.

The authorities still have in mind the assassination of Vorowski, the Russian delegate at the Lausanne Conference of 1924, and the more recent murder of President Paul Doumer of France has given rise to additional fears.

So the great conference on reparations was formally opened to-day with the hotels of all thirteen delegations under police protection. Every application for a press ticket even has to be first passed the scrutiny of the Swiss police.

Among the British Empire delegations, Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner in London, is representing Canada.

The only British Empire Government not directly represented here is the Irish Free State. The lack of Irish representation, it is stated, does not arise from the differences between London and Dublin, but is due to the fact the Irish reparations claims were settled some time ago.

TRADE SWING IS AGAINST CANADA

Ottawa, June 16.—The balance of trade was slightly against Canada in the month of May. Official figures issued through the Department of National Revenue last month, but a valuation of $40,584,406. In addition to this, exports of foreign products from Canada amounted to $607,863, making total exports of $41,192,269.

Total imports entered for consumption during the same month were $44,331,710, of which $10,277,303 were free goods and $28,326,807 dutiable.

The balance of trade against Canada during the month was $2,951,411.

JOBLESS CENTRE OF DISCUSSION

Port Alberni Council Seeks
Way to Carry on Work;
Other Business

(Special to The Times)

Port Alberni, June 16.—The City Council sat until late Monday evening trying to find some solution of its problem of providing work for unemployed following receipt of letters from the provincial government indicating that neither assistance nor loans could be expected from that source.

It was decided to seek sanction from the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council and the consent of the electors for the release of a sum approximating $4,000 in a special reserve for equipment.

This sum is part of the proceeds of the sale of the electric light plant, set aside under agreement to meet the cost of equipment purchases. If the necessary by-law can be put through the money will be used for relief work.

Alderman Harris, finance chairman, said that a number of families were without resources and verging on actual starvation conditions. With every dollar of tax money received having to go into a reserve to meet the cost of indebtedness to the bank, it was not possible to undertake the work, and more than $1,000 of authorized accounts were not paid.

Salaries of teachers had been paid one month late out of receipts from the government and from Alberni corporation, but these salaries were about due again. Tax receipts were not high so far, but the last few days of June were usually marked by heavy receipts from this source.

There was considerable discussion of the advisability of shutting off water from premises where accounts were in arrears. It was not desired to wear a hardship on those in actual want, but it was reported that a number of accounts were much in arrears without deduction being the cause.

Completion of work of First Avenue paving and some improvement at the high school grounds were two very small projects available to furnish relief work at present. The finance for the latter project came from voluntary contributions from salaries of high school staff and from student funds contributed for the purpose.

RULING HALTS PADLOCKING

Canadian Press

Vancouver, June 16.—Dismissing of an application in police court by Magistrate J. A. Findlay has halted police plans to padlock premises used for illicit sale of liquor.

The decision was handed down yesterday in the case of a building owned by James T. Young and Evelyn D. Young on Hornby Street and occupied by W. Eastland, and premises on Seymour Street, owned by Joseph T. and Annie G. de Fencier, with V. Umbaldino as tenant.

It was stated in court that both Eastland and Umbaldino had been convicted on charges of selling liquor while tenants of the two buildings.

"In these cases the prosecution must prove the landlord or owner had knowledge and did permit the violation of section 28 of the Liquor Act," Magistrate Findlay said.

"In this case there is no such proof and I therefore refuse to issue the order."

Some months ago Police Chief C. E. Edgett ordered a padlocking drive be inaugurated against known "bootlegging dens," and fourteen premises were listed for closing. Following the decision of the magistrate yesterday in the first test, it is stated, no attempt will be made to proceed with the other applications.

COAL OUTPUT

Canadian Press

Ottawa, June 16.—Coal production in Canada during the first quarter of 1932 increased 9 per cent to a total of 1,463,943 tons, as compared with 1,342,956 tons produced in the corresponding period of 1931, but declined 16.2 per cent from the five-year average for the quarter of 4,132,091 tons.

Bituminous coal output amounted to 2,116,692 tons, sub-bituminous coal 154,589 tons, and lignite coal 1,192,562 tons, according to a report issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

Compared with the first three months of 1931, Saskatchewan's output of 307,112 tons showed an increase of 55.5 per cent, Alberta's production advanced 26.4 per cent to 1,510,692 tons. British Columbia's output rose 4.1 per cent to 483,220 tons, and New Brunswick's production of 58,910 tons was 1.0 per cent higher. On the other hand, Nova Scotia's total declined 13 per cent.

Canadian imports of coal during the period totaled 1,849,651 tons, or 24 per cent below the total for the first three months of 1931.

Coal exported from Canada during the first three months of the current year amounted to 88,245 tons or 3 per cent below the total for January, February and March, 1931.

WHISKY DUTIES REDUCED

The policy was decided upon because of preferences granted Argentine goods in the United Kingdom.

Motorist's Death Declared Accident

Associated Press
Morinville, Alta., June 16.—An open verdict was returned here late yesterday by the coroner's jury which investigated the death of William Ashcroft, former Winnipeg youth, and recently a resident of Vancouver, who was killed south of Morinville in an automobile accident last Saturday.

The verdict only declared that Ashcroft had come to his death as a result of the accident in which he suffered a fracture of the skull when thrown from the car as it plunged into a ditch.

Only one of the three other occupants of the car gave evidence—Harry Stevens of Edmonton. Miss Jessie Nystrom, charged with manslaughter as a result of Ashcroft's death, did not take the witness stand, while Miss Grace Jones was still in a hospital in Edmonton suffering from injuries.

RONALD STEWART TO SERVE TERM

Supreme Court of Canada
Upholds Decisions Here
Against Jury Protest

Ottawa, June 16.—The Crown was upheld yesterday and the conviction against Ronald C. C. Stewart of Victoria, B.C., of inciting mutiny at Work Point Barracks was restored when the Supreme Court of Canada gave judgment. The case was on the British Columbia last.

The merits of the case, for or against Stewart, did not come up for argument before the Supreme Court. The appeal lay in a protest against the constitution of the petit jury, one member of which, it was argued, was not a proper person to serve on a jury within the Juror Act of British Columbia. Stewart has been at Okalla jail since his conviction last fall.

AT CHICAGO

LAST NIGHT'S PROCEEDINGS AT THE
 Republican convention in Chicago were confined largely to a free-for-all debate on the subject of the Eighteenth Amendment to the United States constitution—the Volstead, or prohibition, law. The resolutions committee brought in majority and minority reports, one very "wet" and the other "moist," and the convention went at it hammer-and-tongs. Senator Bingham of Connecticut and Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler of New York urged the convention to adopt the minority report, which, to all intents and purposes, was a straight proposal to ask the people whether they desired to retain the present system of dealing with the liquor business or whether they desired its repeal. Four hundred and seventy-two delegates voted in favor of this recommendation, and 681 opposed it. The majority report favored a recommendation that the people be allowed to express their views on a proposal to "modify the United States dry laws." This resolution, which was adopted, may mean a beer-and-light-wines plank in the Republican platform.

It is clear that when the convention concludes its session Mr. Hoover's candidature will have been endorsed by his party. What effect the discussion of the Eighteenth Amendment has had upon the electorate is a matter for conjecture. Radio listeners in this country in the main probably thought supporters of the majority report of the resolutions committee had been carefully drilled in the gentle art of political side-stepping. The tenor of both Senator Bingham's and Dr. Butler's arguments, on the other hand, was an exhortation to the convention to be candid about an issue which seems to be uppermost in the public mind. It will now be interesting to watch what the Democrats will do with the same delicate question. The delegates to their party's convention have several days to study public reaction to last night's decision—a tactical advantage of no mean importance.

It is noteworthy that questions of international concern, such as the tariff and the republic's foreign relations, were more or less discussed in a minor key. This is scarcely to be wondered at, since prominent members of the Republican party have not hesitated to criticize the administration in respect of the tariff and the country's attitude toward war debts and reparations. With the convention over, however, candidates will be able to tune their public utterances on domestic and outside questions to their own particular keys.

Canada is especially interested in this election. Never has the economic future of the continent been so intimately linked up with the decision our neighbors will make next November. At the present time there is an unemployed list in the republic of between ten and twelve millions. On this side of the border the proportion of idle workers is almost as great. Both countries in recent months have been pursuing policies that have reduced trade between them in an alarming manner. It is virtually certain a Democratic government at Washington would lower the tariff barriers, while a Republican administration would do so only in the last ditch. It is not likely to commit itself to such a course in a presidential campaign.

Incidentally, Chicago is still entitled to consider itself the favorite convention city of the United States. Lincoln in 1860, Grant in 1868, Garfield in 1880, Cleveland in 1884 and 1892, Harrison in 1888, Roosevelt in 1904, and Taft in 1908 were nominated there for President and were elected, while others have been chosen there as starters, but have failed to finish first at the post.

THE JUNKERS RETURN

NEWSPAPERS IN PARIS HAVE BEEN
 suspecting a revival of the old spiked-helmet, 1914 brand of German imperialism lately.

With Von Papen sitting in the chancellery at Berlin, with the stiff-necked, die-hard Junker aristocracy laying strong hands on the government and with grotesque Hitler rising behind like a black cloud, the fears of the French editors appear to be well founded.

Germany is turning once more to the class that led it up to and into the war. And in that fact there is an indication of the woeful way in which the world at large has failed to handle an acute problem.

The imperialism that guided German policy under the Hohenzollerns was not peculiar to Germany, of course. Every large nation was more or less infected. But Germany seems to have had the worst case, and the things that happened from 1914 to 1918 proved rather clearly that that imperialistic attitude, and the actions which it gives rise to, are extremely dangerous to the world's well being.

After the armistice in 1918, imperialism went reeling. It is the fashion now to sneer at that "make the world safe for democracy" slogan of war days; but, really, there was a whole lot in it. At the end of 1918 a long step had been taken toward accomplishment of that ideal. If the right kind of programme could have been followed, imperialism would have been dead forever.

But to-day, nearly fourteen years after the armistice, the old imperialism is returning to Berlin; and it is impossible to escape the conclusion that the world's blindness helped to revive it.

If a moderate peace could have been made, if the victors had not gone beyond all reason, if a real world-wide disarmament programme could have been accepted—then the old Junker imperialism would not be getting a new lease on life.

What happened in 1914 was tragic proof that world statesmanship had been incompetent. The events of this year seem to be offering another proof.

THE VICIOUS CIRCLE

JAPAN HAS JOINED THE EVER-EXPANDING
 circle of nations whose governments are nursing the weird delusion that the best way to restore prosperity is to erect further obstacles to international trade. She has made substantial increases in her customs tariff, some of which affect important Canadian products such as timber, wheat and flour, in the strange belief that the less trade she does with the rest of the world the better off she will be.

Canadians can not fairly object to this new development of Japanese policy, since their own government has been indulging in the same precarious boat-rocking exercise for several years. Neither can the United States, which is the chief exponent of the curious idea that the less you buy from the rest of the world the more you can sell to it. If a similar idea dominated private traders, how long would they last? If a big store exacted an entrance fee from its customers, how many customers would it have?

The world is suffering from an acute economic depression because it has violated elementary economic laws. Its industries are either stagnant or operating on part time because they can not find markets for their products abroad, and they can not do this because, while they all want to sell, they have an utter horror of doing any buying. Currency readjustments, mediums of exchange and other technical palliatives are merely side issues of what is really a simple fundamental problem of commonsense. They are only hypodermics.

Let us take the case of Canada, whose foreign trade has been cut in half in two years to the inevitable accompaniment of an inevitably equal formidable increase in her unemployment. She produces generally twice as much as the home market can consume. If she raises 400,000,000 bushels of wheat this year, she will have to export 300,000,000 bushels. Her great paper industry must export three-fourths of its products. She can not sell these products abroad if she does not import heavily from abroad, largely from foreign nations, since the empire at best can not begin to take up her whole output. It ought to be clear to anybody who is not hiding his head in the sand that if Canada can not find markets for these commodities her industries must be contracted and the labor market will be correspondingly restricted. Ballyhoo can not provide any escape from that predicament. In these times only grim realities count. If world trade be further strangled, there will be further unemployment, and the end will be chaos. That is the warning which has been sounded by every unprejudiced fact-finding economist in the last few years, and in most world capitals the warning has fallen on deaf ears. What this small world needs more than anything else is a general conference which will result in an all-round removal of the walls which are dividing the nations into narrow trading areas, contracting their markets, and therefore increasing unemployment and the imminence of grave social and political upheavals.

INSULL'S CASE

 of Samuel Insull's retirement from guidance of his vast industrial empire contained the following highly significant paragraph:

"In the years following 1924, according to observers, he himself became imbued with a belief that a new and everlasting era of prosperity had arrived—a belief said to have been largely responsible for the present financial affairs in his utility system."

About all one can say to that is that Mr. Insull was not alone in his delusion. A lot of the rest of us used to feel the same way, and what happened to most people is just about what happened to Mr. Insull. He simply typifies what befell the world as a whole.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

MONOXIDE GAS

The Ottawa Journal

Deaths from monoxide gas escaping from automobiles have become quite common in recent months. Because some people have chosen this method of committing suicide there is a general disposition to explain all such deaths in that way.

Most unfair and uncharitable this is to many poor souls whose lives were thus ended through sheer accident.

The warning should rather be taken by all owners of automobiles that death lurks in their garages ready at any time to seize on the careless or ignorant who start an internal combustion engine before opening the garage doors. It is a thing so easy to forget, so certain in its fatal results.

ORATORY

The St. Catharines Standard

In an article on Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen in The Standard of Monday, the following was asked:

"What is the secret of oratory?"

"Ask someone who knows more about it than I. When I am to make a speech the first thing I do is to master my subject thoroughly. Then I arrange in my mind the sequence of presentation. A good memory is a great asset. I never use notes—don't know how to use them—and resolve ruthlessly to be myself, never to make a statement that later I will have to correct or apologize for."

There is wisdom in the above to those who aspire to be public speakers, the keynote of which is the complete mastery of any subject to be discussed, the marshalling of facts with their sequence of presentation. It is now a recognized thing that Mr. Meighen is one of the outstanding speakers of the American continent. There is an old rule for beginners which is also useful:

Begin low, go slow,
 Rise higher, catch fire;
 Be most possessed, when most impressed.

The article on Mr. Meighen written by a Detroit man was an excellent portrayal of how Mr. Meighen really stands in the estimation of his fellow countrymen even to-day. He is a bigger, broader and a better Meighen all round than he was thought of a few years ago, although to those who have known him well, he is just the same man as before. But he has been misunderstood, deliberately and otherwise.

A THOUGHT

Where thou diest, will I die, and there will I be buried: the Lord do so to me, and more also, if I ought but death part thee and me.—Ruth 1:17.
 A woman whom we truly love is a religion.—Mme. de Girardin.

Loose Ends

Mr. Dick and Mr. Maitland become revolutionary in a most respectable fashion—a gentleman of the old school is upset—and the big plane goes over my garden.

By H. B. W.

MR. WILLIAM DICK, Conservative member of the Legislature for Vancouver, advocates a complete moratorium not only on the principal payments but also on the interest of mortgages. On the same day Hon. R. L. Maitland, K.C., a member of the Conservative Government, sails for England to defend the Fraser Valley Dairy Products Sales Adjustment Act before the Judicial Committee of the Imperial Privy Council. I have no criticism to make of these gentlemen. They may both be right. That they are quite sincere I do not question for a moment. But, of course, Mr. Dick's proposal means virtually confiscation of private property, for the time being at least, and would prevent a man from doing what he likes with his own possessions. The law which Mr. Maitland is defending is pure communism, since it forces farmers to share their losses and pool their profits whether they want to or not.

BOTH THESE proposals may be sound. They may be inevitable in the present emergency of real estate and dairying in the Fraser Valley. But they are utterly opposed to all the principles of the Conservative Party to which these gentlemen belong. They are utterly opposed to our whole economic system. They are more radical than most of the proposals of the organized Socialists of the United States. They make the official programme of the Socialist Party of the United States look like hopeless reaction. Indeed, if any member were to arise in our Legislature and say bluntly that he was for confiscating private property during this emergency and lumping profits in any industry he would be pronounced a Bolshevik by everyone (including Mr. Dick and Mr. Maitland, no doubt, and with the highest motives) and no one would pay any attention to him.

THE POINT of all this is very simple. It is just that our theories are only as good as their results, that when necessity arises we will do what has to be done no matter how disagreeable, no matter how contrary to every idea we have ever had. But we will insist to the end that it is entirely consistent with all our previous works. We will go to endless pains to prove that our sudden conversion was planned from the beginning. We will proclaim to the last that we are not revolutionaries. We will arrest anyone who says we are communists when we defend communism before the Privy Council. Political science consists in seeing the need of changes long in advance. Politicians insist in doing them at the last possible moment when they have to be done. When it will be too late in another five minutes. Or waiting, usually, until five minutes have passed.

PEOPLE KEEP asking me to save civilization in one way or another, despite the oft-demonstrated fact that I can't save anything—not even the boom of Beacon Hill, nor even the maple trees of Parliament Square (now breathing their last), nor even my own faith in the future of parks and provincial governments who commit these outrages. People, despite all this, continue to get after me to save this, that and the other. One gentleman wanted me to save the Victoria school. He says, are being slaughtered barbarously with machine guns by the Canadian Government at the taxpayers' expense, and will soon be extinct like the buffalo. Another gentleman complained to me with great bitterness that the conflict of ideas in the bed-ding plants of the Parliament Buildings, the curious clash of pastel-colored begonias and scarlet geraniums made him ill every time he went to his office in the west wing, even threatened him with violent insanity. And just now a delicious English gentleman of the old school came to me and said this:

I SAY, couldn't you write something about this damnable business of the Australian cricketers? I mean, did you hear what they're going to do, by gad and all that? Why they're going to play fifteen minutes on the Victoria side against eleven Australians, to even up the play, you know. Did you ever hear anything so foul? Imagine in cricket doing a thing like that—in cricket, mind you! The game's the thing, not who wins, and I can't imagine anything so unsporting as to set four men to the local team. The thing's unheard of. It's low and beastly. Let the local team do its best. Let it fight to the end, but let it go down fighting like men instead of trying to take an advantage like that! It's not—it's not cricket!"

I DON'T suppose I can do anything about that either, but I think my English friend is right. Somehow cricket has always been a spiritual satisfaction and comfort to me. I have always thought of it as embodying the great spirit of the British peoples, the final essence of sportsmanship and civility, something more than a sport, something greater than an institution, something more important than a government, a kind of sacred rite, a communion with the hidden forces of life. I have always preserved that feeling towards cricket, and I shouldn't like to have it shattered now. I have preserved it heroically since I was a little boy by never attending a cricket match in my life. Such devotion, I feel, deserves some consideration when the Australians play here. There are thousands of other distant worshippers like me who could never bear it, who would lose all faith in human nature if fifteen men played against eleven.

EVERY DAY, when I have finished the prodigious labors of this column, I go out to my garden yonder and undertake other labors which seem to tax my strength much more and probably are a good deal more productive. And as I box my young carrots and my infant lettuce every day, I hear the distant hum of the big airplane from Vancouver and presently it is soaring directly above my head. There you have the highest and lowest points in the development of our race—airplane up there, the greatest achievement of science and engineering, and me down here, a deliver in the soil as primitive as my most remote ancestors. The whole story of history, the entire record of the race, lies between me and the big plane as it goes over.

BUT I TAKE no nonsense from up there. The supercilious drone of the big plane's engine doesn't worry me in the least, doesn't make me feel humble and unimportant as I tend my early potatoes and hopefully examine my first green pepper. Often I look at that great mechanical bird as its shadow sweeps across my little garden patch and say: "Sweep on, you monster! Sweep on in your pride of vast engines, your superb balance, your engineering perfection, your broad, shiny wings! But do you know about life after all? Have you ever sown a little form seed and watched them grow into big, white onions? Have you ever transplanted young lettuce with all the care and responsibility of a doctor bringing a new life into the world? Have you waited three years for asparagus to establish itself, feeding it meanwhile with good hardy stuff as another feeds its young? Have you waited six years for a pear tree to bear its first pear, or seen your peaches and then watched as they were pruned by someone charged $5 a day for their butchery?"

YES, and have you waited ten full years for a Northern Spy apple tree to fruit, have you kept it and nourished it and sprayed it for a ten barren years while all your friends laughed and then watched as I am watching this spring, the first time form peaches and grow? Sweep on, you monster! I say, "what I am doing will still be done long after you have swept to your last journey and been left to rust in fragments in some junk yard. Men will till the soil long after all machines have rusted away and our civilization is a vague story which few believe. Men will still carry on my work when yours has been forgotten utterly. You are faster than I am, but my work is timeless and forever, since men need not fly, but they will always eat, and every day they will come from the soil." But the big plane just goes right over. It never pauses to answer me. It drones on contemptuously and floats away into the distance with a superior air. Altogether, it's not much satisfaction talking to airplanes.

APPLY GOLDEN RULE TO TRADE

Try Co-operation Appeals
Sydney Pascall, Decrying
Selfishness in Trade

No Nation Built on Selfish
Policy Ever Becomes Great,
Says Rotary Leader

Sydney W. Pascall, president of International Rotary, addressing the district governors just before the close of the convention sessions yesterday evening on the attitude of Rotary towards international problems, appealed for the application of the golden rule.

He said that in order to achieve the six objects of Rotary it would have to be done by understanding and goodwill.

"What is Rotary approach?" he asked. "Is our Rotary anything, unless we can bring it into every phase of our life?"

IDEAL OF SERVICE
Rotary, he said, did not exist for the purpose of making recommendations to governments, but to act individually and collectively in making contacts, always inspired by the ideal of service.

Mr. Pascall explained that the economic problem was interfering with the work of all branches of Rotary and it came very close to the life of the people. He appealed to Rotarians who understood the problems faced by the world to-day to assist in solving them.

Trade, he said, was not war. On the contrary, it was not good business to develop at the expense of others. International trade should be encouraged. The golden rule should be paramount. The interdependence of the nations of the world meant that with the slightest quiver in one part its repercussion was felt all over. Man could serve his own country well only when his ideals were higher than his own country alone.

He believed that a new consciousness was coming over the people of the world. "Why not use the golden rule?" Mr. Pascall asked. "It is equally the rule of international trade. It is sound common sense. No nation ever became great that was built on selfish policy."

In the past, said Mr. Pascall, it had been "everyone for himself and the devil take the hindmost." It was possible, he said, that the axiom might be interpreted as each taking the hindmost in turn and the devil taking the dollar.

"Selfishness, and nothing else, has pitched us into the present morass," said Mr. Pascall intensely. "Let us try co-operation for a change."

ENLARGED PIGGLY WIGGLY STORE OPENS TO-MORROW

READING HELPS AGED BLIND MAN

Sidney Man and Daughter Enjoy Books From Institute Library

How an eighty-five-year-old Sidney man, blind for forty years, has been helped by the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, was told by Fred Landsberg yesterday in drawing attention to the exhibition being held this week in the Victoria Art Gallery and Bazaar at the corner of View and Broad Streets.

Until a few years ago, Mr. Landsberg said, the aged man found his days empty. One of the field workers of the institute got in touch with him and opened the field of literature to him the No. 1 system of reading. He proved an apt pupil, and was keenly interested.

He has now advanced to the stage where his fingers travel rapidly over the pages as he absorbs the books supplied by the institute. He has read six volumes of Sir Walter Scott in recent months.

His daughter, fifty years of age, who has also been blind for forty years, reads by the Braille system, and many an otherwise lonely hour is brightened by the books she, too, receives from the institute library. She is reported to be able to read with her fingers as quick as ordinary persons read with their eyes. There are 20,000 volumes in the library of the institute available for blind persons. The Dominion Government helps by carrying the books between the library and the subscriber postage free.

Crowds of people have watched the exhibition of work in Victoria. Blind on view this week in Victoria. Blind workers daily demonstrate their skill and chat cheerfully about their work to visitors. It is anticipated the exhibition which will be open until Saturday, will win support for the commendable effort of the institute to brighten the lives of the sightless citizens of Canada.

Increased Space and Modern Features Make For Easier Shopping

To-morrow Is Day Set for Official Opening: Free Gifts for Patrons Friday at Commodious Store; Local Firms Handle Construction Work

Now equipped with a thoroughly up-to-date meat market, enlarged and renovated completely and thus possessed of better facilities than ever for efficient service to the public of Victoria, the Piggly Wiggly store at 741 Fort Street will be officially opened to-morrow.

Alterations and reconstruction were done entirely by Victoria workmen and Canadian products and fixtures were used exclusively. This most modern grocery store, which is headquarters for the entire Victoria group of Piggly Wiggly stores, will continue its policy of offering only the finest groceries, meats, fish and vegetables to the public of this city.

Special gifts to patrons will be offered to-morrow, the official day of opening. Shopping bags and samples will be given out to all visitors to the store and there will be free candy for children accompanied by adults. Something entirely new to Victoria, cube steaks will be given free with each fifty-cent purchase in the new meat department as a feature of to-morrow's opening.

EXPANSION POLICY
Undertaken by talk of depression, the Piggly Wiggly (Canadian) Limited, is now prosecuting a vigorous policy of expansion in all parts of the west, the enlarged Fort Street store being but one of several now in process of completion, or now being planned for various western cities, according to Gordon Ogilvie, district manager here.

With head offices in Vancouver, the company now operates a total of seventy-two groceries and meat markets in western Canada.

In Vancouver, the company has just purchased a big warehouse and is at present engaged in the construction of a $10,000 addition to its creamery there.

In Vancouver, likewise, an extensive programme of expansion has been embarked upon.

"Sales are being maintained quite satisfactorily in spite of the so-called depression," Mr. Ogilvie declared yesterday in commenting on the building programme undertaken by his company.

In all instances we are anticipating better times to come and are preparing for them by providing bigger and better stores and up-to-date equipment."

In addition to enlarging the actual retail business section of the store, the management has erected warehouse facilities in the rear of the premises.

The new meat, fruit and vegetable department is equipped with automatic Kelvinator electric refrigeration. This absolutely modern, Canadian-made refrigerating plant is one of the two largest retail store units in western Canada, the other being in a New Westminster store of the Piggly Wiggly chain. This up-to-date refrigeration assures that all perishable foodstuffs will be kept strictly fresh.

The new Holophane lighting system manufactured by the Northern Electric Company, has been installed in the store. The chief feature of this system is that the light may be directed wherever required. Special glass in the shades permits the infiltration of ultra-violet rays, thus creating an agreeably soft light.

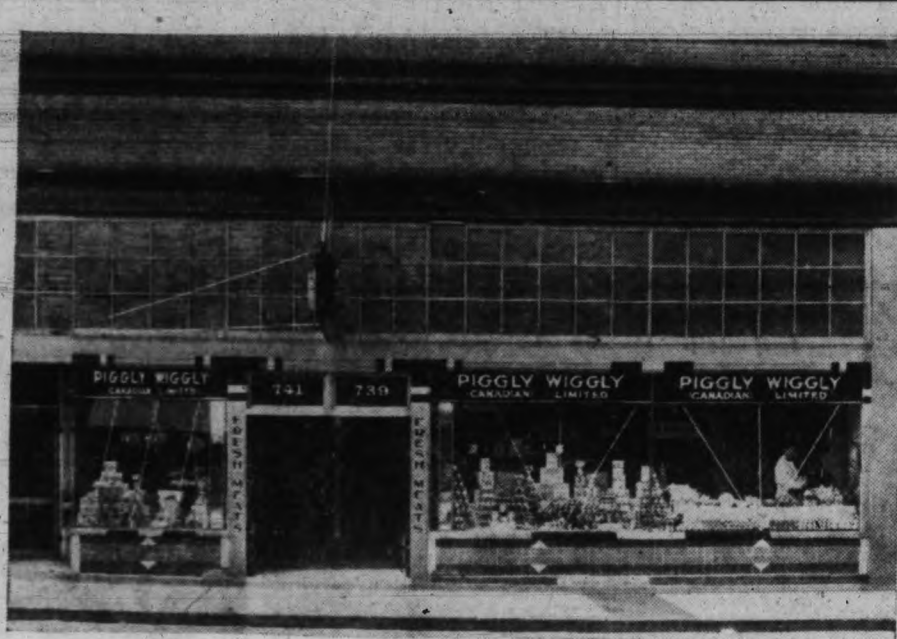

Harmonizing with pale buff walls, the fixtures are of oak, paneled in green, with black trimming. Well-spaced display racks designed for the convenience of shoppers are wider at the base than at the top, while easily accessible shelves line the walls.

In keeping with other fixtures the meat safe and cooler and the butter box with its self-serving, automatic features are finished in natural oak with green and black trim, and are lighted from within by enclosed electric lights.

Instead of the usual railings the aisles of the store are defined by nickel-plated piping, giving a very trim appearance to the grocer's store. The nickel trimming is also used for the turnstiles.

In accordance with the company's policy of using local labor and materials wherever possible, all sub-contracts were let locally, providing employment for local firms.

Mr. Ogilvie lays special emphasis on the fact that whenever possible well-known Canadian brands are featured in all Piggly Wiggly stores.

Above is pictured one of the newest links in the Piggly Wiggly (Canadian) Limited chain of groceries and meat markets, extending throughout the west. The store at 741 Fort Street is completely modern in every respect and presents a most inviting appearance.

Foxy Foxe Mixes Screen and College

By ROBERT GRANDON

Earle Fox hailed me on the street the other day with "Want to talk to you, Bob, but I haven't time to-day. Got to catch my train and get back to school. So long, maybe I'll write" ... and he was gone.

You know Earle as one of the screen veterans who specializes in villains and such. But away from the screen he's president of a military academy upstate where the youth of America is drilled in the way it should go. President Fox with Actor Fox for some reason or other, but it's one and the same.

Edmund (See You) Lowe got to be an actor through being a college professor. Destined for the law, he graduated from Santa Clara University at the age of nineteen. After a post-graduate course, they made him a professor in English. In teaching Shakespeare, Eddie had his class act out the plays ... and from that it was just a step to stock work for him.

Thelma (Aldridge) Todd, deserted a school teacher's desk way down east in Lawrence, Mass., to become a beauty of filmdom, and Peggy Shannon is another who ruled over students before she turned stageward. ... Clive Brook was a tutor at one stage of his varied career ... and Eddie (Hatchett) Robinson taught languages at one time.

Even the honored dead have their list. ... Milton Sills was an instructor in English and psychology in the University of Chicago. ... Louis Wolheim was a teacher of math at Cornell ... and even Mary Thurman, Bennett bathing beauty, came from the school desk to the studio.

EARLE FOX is president of a boy's school.

EDMUND LOWE taught in Santa Clara.

Do you know Greta Garbo's real name? Maybe you would like to know some other facts of interest in Greta's life. If so, send for the leaflet on Greta Garbo, to Robert Grandon, in care of this paper. Enclose two cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope. (Copyright, 1932, Publishers Syndicate)

ASKED FOR DISMISSAL
At that point Stuart Henderson counsel for the defence asked for dismissal of the case on the ground that the charge was preferred against the club. By the cancellation of license, it had received the only penalty which could be levied against a club. Since no club could be fined as a person, the penalty applicable under section seventy-two was applicable in this case.

Magistrate Jay instructed the prosecution to continue with its case. Sergeant Richard Harvey, prosecutor, stated Mr. Henderson's objection not hold in the case. The counsel for the defence had cited the case of "veterans" club which enjoyed special privileges under the Liquor Act. The Colwood Park Club came under a special category, he added.

E. V. Finlay, club counsel, testified as to the securing of a license by club and stated the steward had been advised of the liquor regulations. Two more witnesses for the defence are expected to be summoned when court reconvenes next Wednesday.

ADJOURN CLUB BEER CHARGE

Colwood Park Club Hearing Continue in Police Court Wednesday

An adjournment until next Wednesday in the Provincial Police Court yesterday afternoon in the case of the Colwood Park Club charged with serving liquor on premises contrary to the Liquor Act.

Testifying at the hearing, Constable H. P. Hughes stated he visited the club on Sunday, May 22, and found men in one of the rooms with bottles before them. One containing beer, one had a certain amount of and another was empty. A man just fishing a drink when he entered he said.

Corroborative evidence was given by Constable A. Carmichael. He testified he remarked to the steward, A. C. I that the lockers in the premises were without locks, contrary to the Liquor Act.

Constable D. J. Weir stated he visited the club on the preceding day and given a membership ticket free charge.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and the Brown Bear

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Uncle Wiggily was hopping around and around and around a hole in the ground. The old rabbit gentleman looked down into the hole, and then he looked over his garden, across the fields, toward the Hollow-Stump School, where his bunny boys and girls were reciting their lessons to the Lady Mouse Teacher.

"I hope I can play a trick on that big rock stone and get it out of the new burrow before the children come home from school," said Uncle Wiggily to himself. "I told them I would and I want to do it. But this is the largest rock I ever came upon while digging a hole."

What had happened was, as I told you in the story last night, Uncle Wiggily wanted to teach his children how to dig a burrow or home underground.

"Even though you live in a hollow-stump bungalow," said the daddy rabbit, "some day you may want a burrow house underground. So you must now learn to dig."

Mr. Longears dug the first part of the hole and let the children take turns making it deeper and deeper. But, all of a sudden, Custer came to a rock in the way. He could dig no farther. And as the rock was too large to dig over, under or to either side, Uncle Wiggily said he would have to play some sort of trick on the big stone to get it up out of the partly dug burrow.

"Perhaps," said Mr. Longears to himself as he looked down into the hole, "that rock will come up if I call it. I'll try." So he called politely: "Come on out, Rockie! Come up, Stonie! Pop up out of the hole, please!"

But the rock never moved. It just stayed deep in the hole. Then Uncle Wiggily twinkled his pink nose and said: "Goodbye if I could give the rock something to roll it would roll back to the edge and get out of the hole so we could finish making the burrow. I wonder what rocks eat? Maybe they like clover, for I'm very fond of that. I'll try it."

Uncle Wiggily hopped to a clover patch and pulled some bunches of the sweet, green leaves. Going back to the hole he held the clover at the edge and called: "Come on up, Rockie, and eat some clover. Come on up, Stonie, and have a treat." But the rock never moved. "Maybe it would rather have a carrot," thought Mr. Longears. Hopping to his garden, he came back with a yellow carrot which he held down in the hole, calling: "Come on up, Stonie, and nibble a carrot. Come on up, Rockie, and taste this carrot." But the rock never moved and the rabbit gentleman twinkled his pink nose and said: "I shall have to think of another trick to get the rock out of the way."

While Uncle Wiggily was looking into the hole along came shuffling Brown Bear. Seeing the rabbit, Brown Bear growled: "Ah, now I shall have a fine lunch! A rabbit to eat! Ea, ha."

Shuffling closer to Uncle Wiggily, who, as yet hadn't seen him, Brown Bear growled: "I've come to get you!"

"Oh, have you?" asked Uncle Wiggily, not looking up, and thinking it was his wife who had come to get him to come to dinner.

"Yes," growled Brown Bear, "I have! But what are you looking at down in that hole?"

"I am looking at a big stone, a great rock," answered the rabbit. And as soon as he glanced up and saw Brown Bear, Uncle Wiggily knew he would have to play two tricks, one on the rock and one on Brown Bear.

"Oh, it's a big rock, is it?" growled Brown Bear.

"A very big rock," said Uncle Wiggily cunningly. "So big that even you, strong as you are, could never lift it."

"Nonsense!" growled Brown Bear. "There is no rock so big but what I can lift it." Brown Bear was very proud.

"Try to lift this one," said the rabbit. "Dig it out, lift it up and carry it away. Then I'll know you are strong."

"I'll show you!" boasted proud Brown Bear. "Stand aside! I'll get the rock out and then I'll get you!" Uncle Wiggily stopped aside.

With a few digs from his big paws and claws, Brown Bear pulled out the rock and started to carry it away to toss it down hill. But as he tried to lift the rock slipped from his front paws and fell on his back paws and pinched and crushed them so much that Brown Bear cried, "Oh! Ouch! Wow!" And he had to hold his paws in his mouth to stop them from hurting him. And with his paws in his mouth Brown Bear could not bite Uncle Wiggily, so the rabbit hopped safely home.

So by a trick Mr. Longears got the rock out of the burrow and all was well. And if the delicatessen will give the puffy cat some Swiss cheese to hang up in the doll's house for lace curtains, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's Red Roses.

Wickersham Report Annoys U.S. Police

Portland, June 16.—A resolution to "investigate the investigators" was adopted by the International Association of Chiefs of Police here yesterday following an oral attack on the Wickersham Commission's report on its law enforcement investigations in the United States as "the greatest blow to police work in the last half century." Police chiefs fought it for the floor to denounce the Wickersham Commission's findings, and the day ended with the adoption of the resolution, which empowered Chief Hugh D. Harper of Colorado Springs, Colo., president of the association, to appoint a committee of five to make a nationwide investigation of the allegations in the Wickersham report.

The committee is to report at the next annual convention.

Floral Arches at First Church For Taylor-Innes Nuptials Yesterday

In the presence of a large congregation of interested friends, the marriage was solemnized at First United Church yesterday evening at 8 o'clock of Jean Mary (Mae), elder daughter of Mrs. Jean Innes, October 18, 1908, and of the late Mr. Alexander Innes of Saskatoon, to Mr. John William Taylor, second son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Taylor, Bay Street, Rev. W. G. Wilson, D.D., performed the ceremony.

Eight arches gracefully hung with wisteria shading from mauve to palest pink, spanned the aisles, the bridal party standing beneath a similar arch during the service. The bridesmaids and pink colorings were repeated in the flowers which banked the pulpit. Escorted by Mr. Walter Skilling, who gave her in marriage, the bride was dressed in a gown of pale pink georgette with a lace yoke and jacket. Her veil of embroidered silk net of the same tone formed a short train and she carried in place with a cluster of orange blossoms over each ear. She carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses, sweet peas and maidenhair fern.

Miss Elma Innes was the sister's only attendant. She wore a dainty period gown of powder blue soft taffeta with a frilled round neckline, and frills at the hem of the long skirt. It had tiny cuffs and sleeves and the waist was finished with a soft sash of blue taffeta lined with apricot, and tied in a large bow at the back. She also wore long blue lace mitts, a lace Juliet cap and carried a colonial posy of assorted flowers.

The bridegroom was Mr. Robert Taylor, brother of the groom, and by Mrs. Harry Pigot. Mr. Alfred Gurney played the wedding music and during the signing of the register, Miss Marjorie Watson sang "Because."

After the service, a largely-attended reception was held at the New Thought Hall, Fort Street, which had been lavishly arranged with pink and white flowers for the event. The bride and groom, beneath a floral arch and bell, received their friends, and were assisted by Mrs. Innes, in a flock of midnight blue georgette with an ecru lace yoke and an embroidered beige mohair hat with blue and white and a strand of flowers beneath the chin, and by Mrs. Taylor, in a gown of silk, figured in blue and white and silk hat en suite.

After a honeymoon at Rainbow Lodge, Alta Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Taylor will make their home on Monterey street. The bride left in a smart suit of green silk crepe with a white blouse, a white-stitched crepe de Chine hat and white gloves and shoes.

POPULAR PAIR WED AT HOME

Pretty House Wedding Unites Miss Violet E. Dunn and Sydney Elliott

Rev. E. F. Church, pastor of the Metropolitan United Church, officiated at the pretty home wedding held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Dunn, 1135 Empress Avenue, yesterday evening at 8 o'clock when their second daughter, Violet Edna, became the bride of Sydney Elliott, only son of the late Mr. T. G. Elliott and Mrs. Elliott, of Victoria.

Pink and white were the colors of the reception rooms, the bridal party standing beneath an arch of greenery and white carnations, which was suspended a huge white wedding bell.

Entering with her father to the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Alice Kershaw, the bride wore a gown of ivory peau d'ange lace and georgette, fashioned with slim sleeves and bodice of georgette invisibly tucked, and yoke of lace, the long full skirt having deep insertions of lace. A girle of the georgette was finished at the left hip with a bow of the material. The veil of silk embroidered net was caught to the bodice with two strands of orange blossoms and a cascade of the blossoms at each ear, and she carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses, white carnations, white sweet peas and anemones.

The only attendant was Mrs. Frank Pomeroy, matron of honor, gracefully dressed in pink peau d'ange lace made on long full lines, with a coatee finished with short puff sleeves. She wore a cascade of tiny French flowers in pastel shades of pink, blue and yellow and carried a bouquet of sweet peas, carnations and tiny anemones. Mr. Herbert Jeune entertained the bridegroom.

During the ceremony Mrs. Thomas Anderson of Vancouver, aunt of the bride, sang very sweetly "O Promise Me." Mrs. Dunn, smartly gowned in yellow georgette and lace, was assisted in receiving the guests by Mrs. Elliott, mother of the bridegroom, wearing a becoming gown of black georgette trimmed with eggshell georgette and lace.

The three-tier wedding cake occupied the place of honor on the supper table, which was daintily decorated with silver vases of Ophelia roses and fern, imposed upon folds of filmy pink tulle dotted with chrysanthemums. Mrs. Anderson presided, and Mrs. Elliott, Miss Dunham Davis and Mrs. Jack Gilliland being responsible for the artistic decorations.

The many beautiful wedding gifts received by the popular young couple were much admired.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Elliott left on the midnight boat for Vancouver en route for a honeymoon in Portland, the bride traveling in a sports ensemble of canary yellow basket weave, with hat to match. On their return they will make their home at Irving Road, Victoria.

AVOID RICH DIET IN SUMMERTIME

During the summer, menus must be considered from a new angle. Careful eating will do much toward keeping one cool and comfortable no matter how hot the day, and the intelligent choice of food will go far toward preventing discomfort from excessive heat.

The energy requirements are naturally less with warm weather, so the caloric consumption of the winter months should be reduced. The heat and humidity as well as the tendency toward physical inactivity make it unnecessary and inadvisable to provide a diet rich in heat-producing foods.

However, it is vastly important to eat nourishing foods which will regulate the functions of the body and guard against the annoying digestive troubles characteristic of hot weather. The stomach is as sensitive to the heat as any part of the human organism and overloading or overtaxing it in any way may cause much unnecessary unpleasantness.

A balanced diet must be maintained, using the minimum amount of fat and carbohydrates possible to keep the correct proportions. Protein is always needed to take care of the wear and tear of the body, but since protein foods tend to increase energy production in the system, it is advisable to use only as much protein as is actually needed.

There are certain types of foods it is wise to avoid. Rich sauces, and gravies, fried foods, rich cakes and desserts, hot breads and all kinds of sweets have a decided heating effect on the body. All fats are heat producers and some are difficult to digest as well.

The foods to eat are fresh fruits and vegetables, milk or its substitute not often than once a day, and plenty of milk and water.

Fresh fruits are refreshing and cooling because they are low in caloric value which produce heat and energy. Vitamins and mineral constituents, so essential for maintaining health, are supplied in abundance. They are also valuable on account of their leafy structure, which acts as "ballast" or roughage, always an important factor in a healthy diet.

Plenty of liquids are of course always needed. But as heat causes more rapid evaporation from the surface of the body, a larger amount of milk and water and fruit juices are required in warm weather in order to insure adequate elimination.

Food beverages are tempting on a hot day, but keep in mind that if they are drunk rapidly they may cause discomfort by the sudden chilling of the stomach. Slowly sipping very cold drinks and slowly eating frozen dishes is the safest way—and the most effective, too, since it brings a more lasting coolness.

Acid and sherbets are more cooling than ice creams. The higher the fat content in any dessert, frozen or otherwise, the more calories and consequently the more heat.

—MORROW'S MENU—
Breakfast: Stewed rhubarb, cereal, cream, shirred eggs, toast, milk, coffee.

Lunch: Scalloped new cabbage with tomatoes, brown bread and cheese sandwiches, jelly roll, milk, tea.

Dinner: Broiled halibut steaks with lemon butter, potatoes, creamed asparagus, salad of mixed green, macaroni of fresh fruits, milk, coffee.

The president, Mrs. Easton, brought the meeting to a close before the class intends to put on next fall. Three very interesting book reviews were given, as follows: "Shadows on the Rock," by Willa Cather, leaving her audience with the one desire to read the latest story of this well-known author; "Mrs. Alex. Priestley's "Good Companions," a true picture of every day life; Georgina McKillop reviewed "Three Loves," by Dr. Croftman, the strong character he portrayed and her three loves—husband, son and God.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

In order for children to grow and develop it is necessary for them to act. Not to act is obviously of no help at all, though it appears that the average mother is intent upon teaching her child just one thing, and that is "not to do." Naturally a great many of the things children want to do must be forbidden to them—not as many things as mothers do forbid them—but many things can be done and some cannot be done.

LET CHILD ACT

The method of preventing future misbehavior is construed by mothers to mean punishing the bad acts. That is not nearly as good an educational policy as letting the child do something desirable instead of preventing him from doing something undesirable. What the child wants to do is to act. Prevention of action is irritating, but not educational. Allowing the child to act and to choose the right way to act is a definite education. And, what is more, a pleasing and satisfying one to the child.

MAKE IT A GAME

Suppose the child wants to throw or throw something. There is only something wrong when the child chooses the wrong objects to throw, or throws the right object at the wrong target. Why punish the throwing? That does not make the child want to throw one bit less; in fact, it intensifies his desire to throw.

Instead of applying his desire to throw, tell him you approve of it. Make throwing not a game of skill as well. Anyone can pick up a clod of mud and throw it at a house, or pick up a stone and throw it at a window, but it takes skill to throw a clod of dirt into a large box, or a stone into a hat, or a horseshoe over a ring, or hoop over a stake. The moment the mother discovers her growing child is developing the throwing habit, let her furnish him with objects that are fun to throw and make the game a good one by suggesting also a harmless target.

HARMLESS SATISFACTION

There is hardly an act which a child wants to perform that cannot be satisfied in some harmless way. Cutting, marking with pencil or pen, carrying dishes, turning on water, spearing ice boxes, lighting matches, throwing on gas stoves—all the things every normal, natural child exposed to the activities of a household is absolutely certain to want to do. To prevent his doing any of them inevitably leads to extreme irritation on the part of the thwarted child. It is the most ineffective training for living, and is futile as well.

Children will act without their mother's approval, if not with it. When the child first puts out his hand to touch what his mother is sure should not be touched, begin training him to do things right, harmlessly, and satisfyingly. Do not embrace that futile policy of saying, "No, no," and then slapping and spanking which leads to no where except to wilful disobedience.

HOMEMAKERS TO BECOME W.I.

Saskatchewan Clubs Vote to Join Institute Federation at Convention

Saskatoon, June 16.—Homemakers' clubs throughout Saskatchewan are likely to become women's institutes, according to the report submitted by Miss Bertha Oxner, director, at the Homemakers' convention now in session at the University of Saskatchewan here.

While the clubs have voted in favor of the change by a large majority, Miss Oxner contends they are still bound by regulations, and before the name can be changed, the suggestion will have to be submitted to the governing body of the university, under whose guidance the homemakers' clubs exist.

The Homemakers have been affiliated for a number of years with the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada, but have retained their original name out of sentiment, despite many appeals from other provinces and yearly discussions at conventions.

In the report of the provincial convener of arts and letters, Mrs. A. J. Currie, Govan, stressed the lack of a national handicraft, and expressed regret that the people of western Canada had not yet set themselves to the creation of one which would be characteristic of their life and would contribute its quota to Canadian culture.

WEDDING PARTY PROVES COSTLY

Hamilton, Ont., June 16.—Celebration of their wedding yesterday cost Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Krusto plenty. Sunday afternoon they started out for their honeymoon with a load of beer in their automobile. Motorcyclist Officer Taylor smelled a rat, or beer, or something, and chased them five miles before he caught up with them. While thousands watched, Mrs. Krusto tossed the beer bottles out of the officer, who dodged nimbly from side to side. There was none left when he stopped the happy couple.

Yesterday Krusto was told in police court he must pay $150 or go to jail for three months. It was his second offence against the Ontario Liquor Control Act. Krusto took time out to think it over and was still thinking late yesterday.

"The Plains of Abraham"

BY JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD
(Copyright by Doubleday Doran Co., Inc.)

He went north and west with Wus-koo toward the Tyanagarunne River which emptied into Lake Ontario. Odd struggled between his devotion for Jeems and for Toinette. He followed his master a distance, then hesitated and turned back. A lump rose in Jeems's throat, and he could not see clearly as his comrade sat in the trail and watched until he disappeared.
Wusko led the way to a hardwood country in which he was sure there would be hunting that would last through the winter. There were plenty of raccoons, and the mergansers, or fish ducks, would come to the swift running headwaters to feed as soon as ice closed the lakes and the mouths of the streams. Here they made their lodges of saplings. It was a new kind of home for Wood Pigeon. Jeems built it with a cooking hearth and a chimney and a tiny room set apart for Wood Pigeon herself. The child's eyes glowed with delight at this possession.
Each day Jeems told her more about Toinette—how Sol Yan Mak-wun cared for her beautiful hair, how it was part of her religion to keep herself clean, how and why she did this thing and that, until thoughts and desires grew in Wagon's head, and she employed the comb and the brush which Jeems made for her until her sleek black hair was never untidy.
Heavy snow and extreme cold came early in the season. By the middle of December, Jeems was compelled to hunt on snowshoes, and so bitter were the nights that the first of January found even the headwaters freezing out the mergansers.
This was the memorable winter of 1755 and 1756, the story of which the Senecas handed down from father to son for many generations—a winter in which all game seemed to have gone from the face of the earth, and when hardship and starvation killed a tenth of the three westernmost of the Six Great Nations: the Senecas, the Cayu-gas, and the Onondagas.
At first Jeems was partly prepared because he had killed a buck, and with Wusko's shrewd assistance had marked a number of trees in which raccoons were sure to hibernate. But late in January famine drew closer about the cabin of the Little Selus, and Jeems traveled farther in his hunts, until he was gone two days at a time. In February, he made four of these hunts and found no game. The cold was terrific. Trees cracked like rifles in the woods. Bitter cold continued night and day. Wood Pigeon's eyes grew larger and her body more fragile as the weeks passed. Each time Jeems came in from his hunt
she blazed up like a fire in her happiness, but he could mark the steady fading of her strength. He hunted with almost insane energy. Everything was for her when famine clutched at them hardest.
Torturing fears assailed Jeems. Toinette was never out of his mind, for even in his sleep he dreamed of her.
She, too, was a part of this fight to hold life together.
At night, when the wind howled and trees wailed in their distress, he sweated in fear, and more than once the thought came to him to abandon his family and go in search of Toinette. His visions of the fate which might be overtaking her became almost unbearable. His hunts were not long now, and seldom took him more than three or four miles from the cabin, for his own strength was ebbing.
His only hope was to kill an occasional bird, and it was in the darkest hour that an answer came to his prayers. In a blizzard against which he was working his way in half blindness, he stumbled upon a doe as weak as himself and killed her. Without this stroke of fortune, Wood Pigeon and Wusko must have died. When the dawn came, they were alive. Raccoons began to appear and fleshy roots could be gathered out of the opening streams. Early March brought a warm break in which Jeems and his companions started for Chenusfuo.
Food was plentiful on the way, and each night they gathered strengthening sap from the maples.
They arrived at Chenusfuo. The people there had lived frugally on their after day that she might save it for her children; she had witnessed a faith and devotion which could have been inspired by nothing less than the strength of God in their souls.

Her prejudices melted away in spite of their background of unforgettable tragedy, and she began to experience before. And though she said nothing of it to Jeems, the conviction was growing in her heart that she would not allow another winter to separate them, even if a priest did not come to Chenusfuo.

But he came, following closely the months of starvation. He was a gaunt, death-faced man, on his way to take the place of a brother who had died among the Indians of the Ohio. That was what he said. History was to relate otherwise, for a year later he was the force behind the Abenakis in their slaughter of the English at Fort William Henry. His name was Father Pierre Roubaud. He was a cold, terrifying man of God. Yet he was the Church. He would have died a thousand deaths for the Cause of which he was the spiritual if not the moral representative. He would have eaten human flesh in defence of it. He did see such flesh eaten by his savage disciples at Fort William Henry. He remained in Chenusfuo two days. On the second of these days he married Jeems and Toinette according to the ritual of the Catholic Church.

NEW SCHOOL TAX USELESS

Municipalities Unable to Use Levy Powers, Joint Conference Finds

Police Court as Collecting Agency Too Costly, Delegates Agree

Unanimous that the new school tax passed by the Legislature last spring was unworkable, a meeting of representatives of the municipal councils and school boards of Greater Victoria yesterday evening at the City Hall declined to formulate definite recommendations until the Union of British Columbia Municipalities makes plain its attitude towards the new tax. The meeting adjourned at the call of the chairman, Frank H. Partridge, after forty minutes of discussion, as to the lack of means of enforcing collection.

Those present were:

For Victoria: Alderman W. T. Straith and H. S. Pringle, city solicitor. For Oak Bay: Councillors A. D. Crease and R. Mayhew. For Saanich: Councillors P. Borden and Denis Hoare, Trustee W. S. Thorpe and Partridge, with R. R. F. Sewell, municipal clerk, R. Brydon, school secretary, and E. L. Tait, municipal solicitor. For Esquimalt: Reeve A. Heald, Councillor G. W. Brooker and Major A. Warder, chairman of the school board.

Silence greeted an invitation from the chair for opinions as to the advisability of holding deliberations behind closed doors. Trustee Partridge then explained the object of the meeting was to ascertain the attitude of all public bodies of Greater Victoria toward the new levy. He recalled that a joint meeting of the Saanich Council and School Board had not been able to agree as to the workability of the tax.

COSTLY COLLECTION

Councillor Crease said the Oak Bay Council had discussed the new tax but had concluded it would not be feasible to employ the legislation, because it would prove too expensive. The Oak Bay trustees had placed themselves in the hands of the council in regard to representation at the conference.

Councillor Hoare, for the Saanich Council, said he must concur, although the council was not unanimous. Collection was the great difficulty to be overcome.

The chairman asked for guidance as to the correct procedure to enforce collection and was told by Mr. Tait that prosecution in the police court would have to be taken where persons refused payment. The police tax office a precedent with the added problem that the municipality would have no power to enforce payment.

Mr. Sewell doubted whether convictions could be secured, if the magistrate maintained the attitude he had taken in regard to prosecutions for poll tax.

Alderman Straith said the new legislation bristled with difficulties.

Mr. Tait said the levy would be a personal tax and the municipalities had no collection machinery. The situation was so vague that the levy could not be enforced.

The chairman commented that the onus of proving inability to pay should be placed on the individual.

CONTRADICTORY LAW

Mr. Pringle said the classification of residents was liable to vary greatly from year to year and Mr. Sewell showed direct contradictions between the first and third clauses of the amendment. The first gave the impression that a minimum school tax could be set and if the ordinary tax paid was below that figure the difference could be added to tax bills. The third clause stated that any tax imposed was in addition to any other tax. Mr. Crease and Mr. Pringle agreed with the latter interpretation.

MAKE SOLDIERS PAY

Reeve Heald was asked for the view of Esquimalt but stated that he was present to learn. The council had come to the conclusion that the tax was unworkable and had not yet taken it seriously. Such a measure would give Esquimalt an opportunity to get something from soldiers and sailors, whose children received free education towards the cost of which neither the parents nor the Dominion Government contributed.

Mr. Tait expressed the hope that, if the Municipal Union favored such a tax, care would be taken to fully set out what type of tax was intended. An income tax or a poll tax would probably be good, but another land tax would be a mistake.

Alderman Straith said that such a levy would require an investigation staff, duplicating the organization created by the city to deal with relief. The new tax could not pay such an overhead and there would still remain the cost of collection by police court prosecutions.

Reeve Heald advised action be deferred until the Union of Municipalities had expressed an opinion on the worth of the tax.

TAX ON HOMES

Councillor Borden suggested that the simplest means of collection would be imposition of a minimum tax on residences, which would result in the renter paying indirectly through his landlord.

Mr. Pringle inquired the effect on the mill rate of such an impost and Councillor Borden replied that the mill rate fell on land. As residential areas grew they added heavy charges for schools and a tax on residences would come from the people benefited.

TAX ON INCOMES

Mr. Tait commented that the obvious purpose of the legislation was to relieve property and could see no reason why the new levy should not be plainly described as an income tax. The purpose was to impose an income tax with a rebate to payers of taxes on property. The province was empowered to give such taxing privileges to municipalities, the practice being common in other provinces.

BEYOND FIELD

Alderman Straith then called attention to the fact that the meeting was going outside its field, having been called to see if the new regulations could be put into effect. He advised that the organization for joint discussion be kept alive by adjournment at the call of the chair.

The chairman asked whether the meeting could not make recommendations to the Union of Municipalities convention, to be held this month at Nelson, but Councillor Crease advised

DOBBIE PARTY WELL RECEIVED

Business Men Enjoy Splendid Presentation By Radio Concert Group

Victoria's business men, represented in the Chamber of Commerce and Victoria and Island

Publicity Bureau, forgot about business for an hour to-day as they listened to the rollicking programme of Hugh Barrett Dobbs—“Captain Bobbie” of the Shell Ship of Joy, and his company in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium.

Regierte with humor and lifted above the usual burlesque by the fine talent of the artists, the programme held the gathering rapt with interest following the luncheon meeting to-day.

Following introductory remarks by “Dobbie,” Ed Randall opened the musical section of the programme with a splendid rendition of “Without a Song.”

He was followed immediately by the orchestra in an impressive interpretation of “That’s Why Darkies Were Born.”

WELL RECEIVED

Ellen Haig, soprano, contributed “There’s a Song in My Heart” and won unstinted applause for her number, as did Louise Forham in the catchy piece “I Didn’t Say Yes.”

With the magic violin which he has played his way into the hearts of radio listeners all over the continent, Max Dolin held the gathering with two selections, a Hungarian dance melody and a light Spanish selection

Helen Lowe, supported by a male chorus from the orchestra gave an admirable presentation of “My Hero” from “The Chocolate Soldier.”

“Dobie” negro impersonator, teamed up with “Dobbie” in a humorous gas station chatter number.

SHOWS ARTISTRY

Pure artistry was shown by the company’s negro vocalist, William Powers, who sang “Old Man River” and “Carry Me Back to Old Virginia” in the sweet, plaintive manner characteristic of his kind.

Ed and Abdul de Bulbul closed the programme with a clever backstage comedy turn.

Those assisting in the programme were Captain Dobbie, Wee Willie Hancock, Max Dolin, Miss Memory Moore, Dicie and Ed, Helen Lowe, Eleanor Bernard, Mary Lou, Tom Coskey and his band, Virginia Haig, Carl Ravayne and Al Morris.

Herbert Anscomb, chairman at the meeting voiced the appreciation of the gathering for the excellent entertainment presented by the party.

Winnipeg, June 16.—T. J. Harrison, Winnipeg, was re-elected president of the Seed Growers’ Association of Canada at the closing session of the annual convention here yesterday. W. T. G. Weiner, Ottawa, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

SEEK AGREEMENT ON TEXTILES

Canadian Press
Montreal, June 16.—In the hope that an agreement may be arrived at with Canadian textile interests, the members of the Lancashire Cotton Mission have postponed their departure for England. They were to have sailed to-day, but will not leave for several days. Prospects for an agreement between the parties, who were meeting in Montreal, were said to-day to be bright.

facts

Here’s how the NEW MARVELUBE compares with six of the highest priced oils on the market—yet it sells at the regular price!

Give us facts about oil, say the motoring public. Here they are, facts established by experts under the strictest test conditions.

OIL	Horse Power and Fuel Economy (Points)	Low Oil Consumption (Points)	Low Carbon Deposits (Points)	Clean Valves and Stems (Points)	Stability (Points)	Total Score (Points)
NEW MARVELUBE	100	100	100	100	100	500
Best Competitive Oil	98	63	68	91	92	412
2nd best Competitive Oil	95	85	85	47	79	391
3rd best Competitive Oil	99	84	68	46	90	387
4th best Competitive Oil	98	88	81	40	76	383
5th best Competitive Oil	98	56	78	65	79	376
6th best Competitive Oil	97	33	40	64	95	329

You see that point for point the New Marvelube rates above these competitive oils, and in making this comparison we checked only against the highest priced and best known of competitive oils! You see that some oils nearly approach the New Marvelube on one point—some on another. But not one of them consistently comes near being “almost as good”. The New Super-Refining Process—exclusively the property of Imperial Oil Limited—makes the purest of oils. And when an oil is pure like the New Marvelube it is free from undesirable properties that deposit gum, carbon and sludge in the motor.

Whether you change oil every 500 miles or every 2500 miles you will get better results with the New Marvelube. Most automobile manufacturers recommend changing oil every 500 miles because oil gets dirty in use and accumulates road grit and other injurious substances.

PARENTS SEE SCHOOL WORK

Many Attend Visitors' Day at Lampson Street; Inspect Good Displays

Displays of the work done by students of Lampson Street School during the year were shown parents and friends of the school at the special Visitors' Day exhibition yesterday afternoon. Approximately 250 attended the function and paid high tribute to the splendid exhibits on view.

Manual training, home economics, dental work, geography, and other features of the curriculum were well represented in the various displays.

Those attending the function were welcomed at the door of the assembly hall by H. W. Creelman, principal, who expressed his appreciation of the interest being taken in the school by the parents.

An attractive programme was prepared by the staff for the benefit of the outsiders, giving details as to the location of the various classes and the grades being taught. Among those who attended were Major A. A. Warder, chairman of the school board; Trustees Alexander Lockie, Mrs. Sarah King, Mrs. Jessie McFarlane and A. T. Parley. The following contributed to the musical entertainment: Alexander Ord, piano solo; John Monckton, recitation; Robin Wood, piano solo; Robert McVie, song; Muriel Ross, solo dance; Sylvia Monckton, recitation; Division II pupils, songs, "Ferry Me" and "The Jolly Miller"; James Robinson, recitation; Dorothy Jones, piano solo; grades seven and eight pupils, folk-dancing. ENDS ASTHMA AGONY OF 6 YRS. IN 24 HOURS

New Prescription Works Wonders
Trial Supply Sent FREE

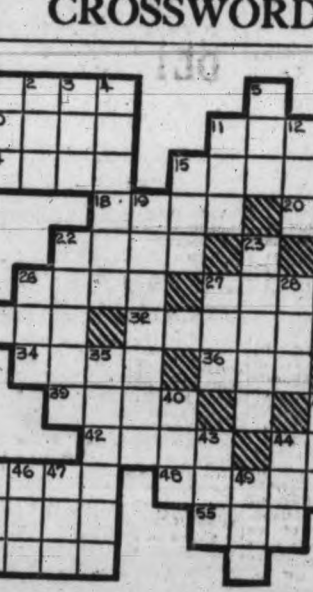

"For 6 years I suffered the terrible tortures of asthma, gasping, straining, choking, coughing and wheezing. Tried everything, but only temporary relief. Then a new prescription came into my hands. It stopped all choking and gasping almost instantly. Within 24 hours I could lie down and sleep in comfort all night long. It was really astonishing how soon I got well and I haven't had one attack since. My recovery was so complete that I had no trouble getting a $10,000 life insurance policy. The doctor couldn't find a trace of asthma."

"If you suffer in a similar way this new prescription should quickly and your asthma troubles as it did mine. Try it. I will gladly send you a generous trial supply FREE. Write to-day: Dr. Dean, 1448 C. Dean Bldg., Benton Harbor, Mich." (Adv.)

COMMUNICATION ON SCHOOL LEVY

Cumberland City Council Hears Complaints Against Union Hall as Fire Hazard

Special to The Times
Cumberland, June 16.—A short session of the business before the City Council on Monday. Only one communication was read, from Hon. Joshua Hinchcliffe, concerning the collection of the school levy. The letter was received and filed.

Health, water and light committees reported everything satisfactory. Alderman Henderson for the fire wardens reported two calls to camp since the last meeting, both grass fires.

FIRE HAZARD
Mayor Maxwell brought up the subject of the fire hazard constituted by the old Union Hall. Complaints have been received again from property owners near by, who petitioned a year ago on June 15. The matter was referred to Assistant Fire Marshall C. J. Parrham, who took up the matter with the owner, E. W. Bickie, giving him until June 30 to take action. Nothing was done, Mayor Maxwell in commenting said he did not know why such leniency was given. He considered the building unsafe. The assistant fire marshal will be asked to make a further investigation.

Alderman Symons brought to the notice of the council the need of inspection of electrical wiring in buildings now being built in the city, and it was decided to ask Ed. Hughes, former city electrical inspector, to act as inspector pro tem.

The levying and collecting of a tax for school purposes under the new tax act legislation passed for this purpose was the subject of much discussion, but without any definite result.

Social Afternoon At Quamichan Lake

Special to The Times
Duncan, June 16.—Mrs. F. S. Leather, Mercedes, Quamichan Lake, lent her beautiful grounds for a social afternoon held under the auspices of the Cowichan Women's Institute Tuesday afternoon. Tennis, clock golf and treasure hunt were the amusements provided.

Mrs. R. H. Whitcomb won the box of chess, made and donated by Mrs. Carr Hill and supervised by Miss L. Monk, and Mrs. C. P. Davis made the most correct guess as to the contents of the "wonder box" donated by Mrs. J. M. O'Reilly and supervised by Mrs. E. Carberry. Vocal solos by Mrs. C. H. Dickie were much enjoyed.

Ten was served by the hostess, Mrs. Leather, assisted by Mrs. Bradley, Miss Spooner and others.

Somerville Equals Course Mark to Win

London, Ont. June 16.—C. Ross Somerville, Canadian amateur golfer, equalled the record for his home course in the second eighteen of the annual golf tournament staged at the London Hunt and Country Club yesterday. Somerville turned in a gross score of 139 for the thirty-six-hole competition. He played the afternoon round in 67, three under par, and completed the first round in 72.

Horoscope

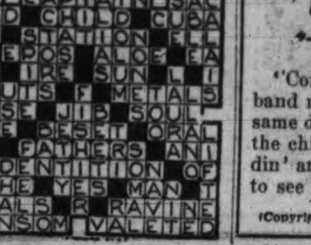

FRIDAY, JUNE 17, 1932
Adverse planetary aspects are strong to-day although there are benefic influences of potent effects, astrologers announce. In the morning the mind may be inclined to take a warped view of life. Pastime reflections should be interrupted by early rising and a little genuine work.

The rule of the stars may encourage misjudgment and misadventure in matters of education, aviation and improvements in airships will be numerous all through the summer. It is supposed to be easier to deceive oneself under this way than it is to mislead any one else. The men and women who forego any sort of regret.

This is not an auspicious rule for those who journey on the high seas. Storms or delays appear to be indicated. For those who operate in the air, the rule is more favorable. The rule of the stars may encourage misjudgment and misadventure in matters of education, aviation and improvements in airships will be numerous all through the summer. It is supposed to be easier to deceive oneself under this way than it is to mislead any one else. The men and women who forego any sort of regret.

Anglicans Reminded of the Importance of Religious Education Among Young

Next Sunday will be observed as Children's Day throughout the diocese of Columbia. On this day Anglicans are reminded of the great importance of religious education among the young, the various ways in which the church seeks to promote this and the necessity of financial support for all the various undertakings.

In this connection the Diocesan Board of Religious Education sponsors the following undertakings: Teachers' training classes, summer camps for training in leadership, special lectures and group meetings on religious education and leadership, vocational guidance and the circulating and supervising of Sunday school lessons sent to over 800 children living in the scattered parts of the diocese.

The church in this diocese is also linked up with a Dominion-wide organization known as the G.B.R.E. which sends highly trained secretaries and specialists to every diocese to advise and assist in religious education and Sunday school matters, and which also provides valuable literature for the use of both parent and teacher.

Parents are specially reminded at this time of their tremendous responsibility in home religious training, especially by example, that the children should learn the lesson of true religion.

But considering the neglect of religious training in the schools and in most homes, the church recognizes the pressing need for all her members to support in every way the work of religious education among the young, by prayer, by example and by offerings.

Pupils of South Park School will give an exhibition of handwork, including products of manual training and home economics classes, next Wednesday afternoon from 2:30 to 5:30 o'clock. SHOWS ROTARY PEACE MOVES

International Objectives Bringing Together Estranged Nations, Club Told

William de Cock Buning Sketches Work-Being Conducted in Europe

Citing instances in which Rotary Clubs of various countries had erased national hatreds created by the World War, William de Cock Buning, The Hague, delivered an inspiring message to the Rotary Club at a luncheon in the Crystal Garden today.

Joint meetings between clubs of different countries, estranged by the events of the war, had proved the success of Rotary's international service and had been constructive steps towards world peace, he declared.

Mr. Buning gave a sketch of his country, speaking of its dykes, flat lands and canals and contrasting it with its heavy population to the sparsely populated mountainous country of British Columbia.

The Dutch people were a fighting race. They fought not with arms, but with pumps to reclaim land from the sea. Shortly 700,000 more acres of fertile land would be reclaimed.

The Dutch, never quick to adopt a new idea, had taken up Rotary slowly. But since the establishment of the Rotary Club in The Hague, none had withdrawn, he said.

Near to many foreign countries, the people appreciated Rotary's international feeling in the establishment of better feelings between various nations. A speaker said, Holland understood the war was caused by misunderstanding. It was one of Europe's Rotary objectives to avoid this. At present, with international peace, misunderstanding and high tariffs, it looked impossible.

There was some hope in the belief that the world was in a transitional stage and would emerge with a better feeling of international friendship and understanding, he said.

Mr. Buning remarked upon the international economic conference in Brussels in 1927 during which the different leaders had decided the height of tariff walls. Three years later these tariffs were higher than ever before. Quota systems had been tried to remedy the ill of members but they were but signs of selfish nationalism standing in the way of international co-operation. It was exceedingly difficult to change the outlook.

To illustrate his point, he cited a letter from a Chinese Rotarian in Shanghai, who had told him of the cooperative efforts of both Chinese and Japanese Rotarians in terminating the troubles in that strife-torn city.

Similar efforts were being made in Europe. The task was exceptionally difficult, since those engaged in the work had to have their own patriotism above reproach.

In this connection he spoke of the activities of a small Franco-German Rotary committee which not only studied the prejudices of the two countries, but through the personal contacts of its members was establishing better relations between the two nations in those towns they visited periodically.

On the official Franco-German body several Rotarians were working for a better feeling in the Scandinavian countries, middle Europe and other parts of the continent, including Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and old Austria, these efforts to erase old hatreds were very apparent, he continued.

In some detail he sketched his own personal experiences in those areas. The Rotarians of all towns he had passed through had demonstrated their desire to re-establish friendships between nations which had been enemies during the World War.

The success of some international Rotarians in that land had been a great achievement in international peace. Not by government edict, nor mass action, but by the behavior of the individual and his influence on those about him, had peace been established in the chain of peace.

Concluding, Mr. Buning urged his hearers to join hands with their neighbors in the Rotary movement.

George McGregor moved a vote of thanks to the speaker for his inspiring address.

MORE ROTARIANS ARRIVE IN CITY

Fifteen Delegates From Great Britain and South Africa Come For Convention

Fifteen Rotarians from Great Britain and South Africa arrived today to attend sessions preliminary to the international convention opening at Seattle on Monday.

They had but one complaint to make about Canada—too much good food. Canadian dining cars and hotels, they said, offered menus that were really too tempting, declared F. G. Heywood, New Zealand-born South African from Johannesburg. Buryl T. Young, from Newcastle-on-Tyne, chairman of the British delegation and member of the international convention committee, put in: "We're no longer Rotarians, we're Rotundities."

This may sound funny coming from Englishmen who are known to be pretty fair trenchermen, another of the visitors said, "but there's nothing like this Canadian food to give you an appetite."

Coming here after a few days' mountain-climbing and riding at Banff, the overseas Rotarians, most of them tanned to a nice saddle color, are enthusiastic about Canada. Several of them said they were planning tours to Canada later "on their own."

ROTARIENNES AT "BENVENUTO"

Wives of the members of the International Assembly of Rotary now visiting in the city were taken for a drive this morning as far as "Benvenuto," Tod Inlet, where Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Butchart gave them a cordial and hospitable welcome.

Together with the local Rotariennes and members of the Rotary Club, the visitors rambled through the gardens, which just now are aglow with early summer blossoms. The sunken garden, evoking particular admiration from the guests, the house was also thrown open to the visitors. Mr. and Mrs. Butchart entertaining them with the generous hospitality for which they are famous. The host and hostess were tendered the individual as well as the collective thanks and appreciation of the large party prior to the return journey to town.

CAMERONS SEEK JURY AWARD

Counsel to Ask $24,679 Judgment in Accordance With Verdict

To bring about a reversal in the action of Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald in which he yesterday negated the verdict of the Supreme Court special jury under S. J. Drake, which awarded the Cameron Lumber Company $24,679 from a group of insurance companies, E. C. Mayers, K.C., will take formal action to-morrow to have the court give judgment according to the jury's verdict.

The move of the Cameron's, through Mr. Mayers, as their counsel, has been set to start at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning, it was announced at the courthouse this afternoon.

The jury's verdict was reached late Wednesday after a five-day trial in which the Camerons asked for a total of $28,000 as still due them as part of their claims for losses suffered in the fire which swept their lumber mills a year ago.

The justice refused to accept the jury's verdict yesterday on the grounds that there had been errors in their figuring of the losses.

DR. C. E. BARKER ON BIG TOPIC

Noted Rotary Lecturer Speaks on "A Father's Responsibility to His Son"

Dr. Charles E. Barker, Grand Rapids, Mich., addressed the Rotary International Assembly at the opening of this afternoon's session at the Empress Hotel. He took for his subject "A Father's Responsibility to His Son."

Dr. Barker has the distinction of having delivered nearly 4,000 addresses since he became a lecturer and he has been engaged by more than 1,000 Rotary clubs. His most popular lecture, "How to Make the Most Out of Life," has been delivered to some 3,000,000 boys and girls of high school age.

One of the secrets of his success is his understanding of young people and the simplicity of his appeal. He has probably addressed more high school students than any other living man.

Dr. Barker climaxed his career as a doctor of hygiene and physical culture as a physical instructor to the late William Howard Taft, former President of the United States.

THEATRES TO AID INDUSTRY

To aid the Chamber of Commerce in promoting local industry, and increase production and employment, the managers of the Dominion and Capitol theatres have offered to sponsor a "Buy in Victoria Week" commencing on Monday, June 27 and continuing until Saturday, July 2.

During this campaign local products will be featured in the programmes of the two theatres, as well as on the screen, and manufacturers will be invited to display samples of their products in the main lobbies.

The campaign has been proposed as a follow-up to the recent Home Products Exhibition, which was so successfully staged by the Chamber of Commerce.

AUTO-WITH A TRUNK IN THE REAR

Lots of autos have hit trees, but it is not usual for a tree to hit an auto. That is what happened, though, in Brooklyn, N.Y., the other day. Here firemen are shown chopping up a tree which toppled during a storm, crushing a parked car in its downward path.

MOUNTAIN LION INVADERS CITY

Armed Police Posse and Trained Cougar Dogs Seek Daring Animal in Park

Hunt Is Speeded As It Is Feared Hunger May Make It Desperate

Is there a cougar hiding by day in the bushes of someone's garden in the James Bay or Fairfield district and slinking out by night to continue its stealthy prowling? This is what the experts on wild life at police headquarters are trying to solve. Reports of one or more mysterious cougars being in action in any around the city are coming to headquarters.

A big cougar was reported yesterday evening in Beacon Hill Park. This brought a posse of police under Constable Alex Nichol, armed with heavy hunting rifles, and assisted by Charles Burr, a cougar expert, and his two trained cougar dogs, to the scene. They covered the broom area of the park, but no cougar tracks were located.

As the cougar was reported to be rather slim, with distinct hollows visible in its flanks, it was assumed by the hunters that the mountain lion was hungry and looking for an square meal. This hastened their hunt in the effort to capture it before it should make a kill.

Unless the cougar's whereabouts is discovered within the next few hours, it may be necessary to place guards around the goats, the buffalo and other animals in the open-air park enclosure to safeguard them from becoming victims of the hungry wild lion from the mountain. It is feared that unless it is able to make a meal of some small goat or chicken, it will become ravenous in its appetite and will be driven to daring in its attacks.

Mr. F. Ayton, 634 Michigan Street, reported to the police that at 5:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon, while walking along the footpath around Horseshoe Bay, he heard the alarmed death squeal of a dog. A minute later he saw a mountain lion come out of the bushes and leisurely disappear into the bushes on the other side of the road. Mr. Ayton immediately returned to the inhabited part of the city to make his report.

A few days ago a large cougar was reported by Victoria residents lurking around the C.P.R. crossing on the Esquimalt Road. It is not known whether the animal reported in the park area is the same one, although experts say that it would be possible for it to get through the city, as the cougar is an adept at making its way unobserved at night through dark streets and dodging into alleys and doorways to avoid being seen.

Cougars often in the past have come within the city limits. Their visits to town are usually made in the summer time. The heat seems to embolden them and drive them down from their mountain quarters.

The great mountain lion that one morning a few years ago strolled up and down Yates Street, sending pedestrians scurrying and even driving persons out of restaurants which had left their doors open, was recalled today. A posse detachment armed with hunting rifles finally charged the mountain lion and ended its career at the side of the Carnegie Library building at Yates and Blanshard Streets.

CONVICTS COMING FOR APPEALS HERE

Six Men Will Be Here From Okalla on June 22; Today's Appeal Court Cases.

Justices of the Court of Appeal today consented to the appeal of Earl Robinson, former Vancouver police court clerk, against his sentence, going over to the autumn sittings of the court in Vancouver.

W. C. Moreby, K.C., prosecution counsel, explained to the court that scores of official records had been required for the hearing and they could only be brought to Victoria with difficulty. He also said no harm would be done to Robinson as he is now out on bail.

The court, at the request of Mr. Moreby, set Wednesday, June 22, as the date for the hearing of the appeals of six criminal appeals. The imprisoned men will be brought to Victoria from Okalla jail for the hearings.

Donahy, K.C., as counsel for the Corporation of the Township of Richmond, to-day continued his argument for reversal of the judgment of Mr. Justice Fisher which awarded one, Geall, a rancher of Lulu Island, $1,480 damages for flooding of his farm and destruction of his fruit trees because of improper construction by the municipality of its works and by the negligence in the guarding of its ditches, which poured water on to the Geall farm.

R. L. Reid, K.C., as counsel for Geall, is arguing for confirmation of the verdict of the lower court.

The appeal of the Graham Island Timber Company against the provincial taxation assessment on the sale of its timber to the Powell River Company was dismissed, thus confirming the Vancouver assessor in claiming taxation on his estimate of $275,000 profit the company is alleged to have netted on the deal.

John F. Sweeting Says Indications Point to Period of Expansion Shortly

A survey of conditions in western Canada by John F. Sweeting, industrial commissioner, western lines of the Canadian Pacific Railway, leads him to believe that prospective industrial improvement is in contemplation, and a period of expansion may be within reasonable distance of being attained.

"Wholesale and retail firms find conditions very similar, although in some lines sales are larger than a year ago," Mr. Sweeting says in a report received by the Victoria Chamber of Commerce. "Business seems likely to expand, however, during the summer months as crop conditions warrant, with a continuation of confidence in the outlook. So far there has been little improvement in building operations, although an upward movement is shown in prospects for the construction of houses. Some merchants are enlarging their premises and building new stores owing to more business being developed. In manufacturing, expansion is taking place in respect of several lines of industry, but not on a very large scale. However, all this tends to show that prospective improvement is in contemplation, and that a period of expansion may be within reasonable distance of being attained."

Scumming and Sharkey In the Pink For Heavyweight Battle

German Installed 7 To 5 Choice To Retain His Title

With New Style and Displaying a Marked Ability to Still Take Punishment Schmeling Picked to Win Tuesday's Title Bout by Professional Gamblers; Both Fighters Are Impressive in Training Quarters; Sharkey Says He Will Fight Deadliest Fight of His Life

Associated Press

New York, June 16—The faintest shade in the fortunes of war, one error of judgment or marksmanship, can turn the heavyweight championship to Jack Sharkey Tuesday night after seven long years of seeking, or leave Max Schmeling without another serious title contender in sight.

Men of the ring, whose fortune is an ability to judge the game, to weigh conditions, balance the styles of fighters and forecast the winner, have come away from the gladiators' training camps shaking their heads.

Probably no two warriors in modern ring history have shown as brilliantly as the dark-browed, smiling German and the massive, determined Sharkey in their training campaigns this week.

Jack Johnson was an old man and fading when he went through the motions of preparing for Jess Willard at Havana. Jess, himself, had slipped when Jack Dempsey came along to defeat him at Toledo. Dempsey had suffered from ease and inactivity when he tried to face the challenge of Gene Tunney at Philadelphia, and age had slowed him up at Chicago.

But Sharkey and Schmeling have come down toward the close of their training campaigns in the best condition either ever has attained for battle. SHARKEY LOOKS GOOD

Sharkey, more faithful than ever before in training, serious and calm, apparently has capitalized fully for the first time all the extraordinary punching and boxing endowment he has cast aside at least three times in the past when chances at the heavyweight championship were in his grasp.

He is pounds heavier, yet at 202 the weight has lodged in his shoulders, where it adds to the power of his punches. His judgment of distance, timing, boxing have been all but perfect.

"I'm going to fight," he said to-day without a trace of feeling in his voice, his eyes level and earnest, "the coldest, calmest, deadliest fight of my life. I'm not going to miss this time."

Yet Schmeling, who won the title two summers ago on a foul in four rounds after Sharkey had battered him every second of the first three, is equally impressive. He blocks punches better and drives short right hands to the head and body with deadly force and accuracy. He seems immune to punishment.

The only break in the picture is the champion's change in fighting style from a weaving, bobbing miniature of Jack Dempsey to a "stand-up" boxer. He jabs more, but without the finesse of Sharkey's left hand. And standing up he seems to hold his right too low to stop the sailor's best punch; a short, thudding left hook to the jaw.

HARDER TO HIT

Schmeling insists, however, that he will be harder to hit than his new style, and his only plan of war is to take what he has to, punch as fast and as hard as he can and wear Sharkey down in the last rounds, as he did young Stripling at Cleveland last summer.

The sailor thinks Schmeling silly to change his style, yet the professional gamblers, rarely wrong, have made Schmeling a 7 to 5 favorite.

Bill Terry Making Outstanding Success Of Handling Giants

New Boss Pulls Club From Eighth Position Into Fourth Place Since Taking Team Off John McGraw's Hands Less Than Two Weeks Ago; Defeated League-leading Cubs 6 to 3 Yesterday; Boston Braves Beaten; Three Leading Clubs in American League Go Under

Time alone will judge of Bill Terry's ability to handle a big league club. But there is no denying the big first baseman has made an imposing start as leader of the New York Giants.

When he took them off John McGraw's tired hands less than two weeks ago the New Yorkers were running eighth in the National League. To-day the Giants stood in fourth place, only four games from the top, after winning eight out of ten games played under their new foreman.

A costly error by Bill Herman, Chicago second baseman, gave the "Terrers" five runs in the eighth inning and a 6 to 3 victory over the Chicago Cubs in their opener yesterday.

The defeat did not cut into the Cubs' lead over the first, however, as the second-place Boston Braves were dropping a 5 to 2 verdict to Pittsburgh.

HERMAN HITS HARD

Floyd Carter Herman had a happy homecoming at Ebbets Field, as Cincinnati Reds trimmed Brooklyn, 5 to 1. The babe hit a home run, a triple and a double and drove in three runs against his former mates.

The Phillies took a shortened contest from the Cardinals, 7 to 4, rain stopping play in the seventh inning.

The American League's three top teams encountered defeat at the hands of western rivals. New York Yankees dropped a close one to Chicago White Sox, 3 to 1. Lou Gehrig's fourteenth homer averted a shutout for the leaders.

Earl Webb, playing his first game in a Detroit uniform, teamed up with Gerald Walker to defeat Washington, 7 to 6. Between them they scored three runs and batted in five.

St. Louis Browns shaded the Philadelphia Athletics, 9 to 8, when they scored twice in the ninth.

Cleveland made it a clean sweep for the west as Wes Ferrell turned back Boston Red Sox, 9 to 3, for his twelfth triumph. Joe Voelck knocked in six of the Indians' runs.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

New York, June 16—Bill Herman's error in the eighth inning ignited the fuse that blew the Chicago Cubs' lead to pieces, yesterday, and the Giants scored five runs in one big frame to beat the league leaders, 6 to 3, in the first game of their series.

Big Frank Hogan opened the eighth with a single. A. A. Wain and Critz's single tied the score, but two were out before there was any real trouble. Then Herman let Freddy Lindstrom's near grounder slip through.

Manager Bill Terry smashed a single for another run and then came scratch singles by O'Brien and Jackson, each of which sent home another tally.

Brooklyn, June 16—Red Lucas and three former Dodgers finished off Brooklyn in a neat fashion yesterday and gave the Cincinnati Reds a 5-to-1 victory in the series opener.

Lucas pitched seven-hit ball in his thirteenth complete game and his fifth victory of the season. Babe Herman, Ernie Lombardi and Harvey Hendrick drove in all the Reds' runs, Herman and Lombardi lashing out in the series opener.

Batteries—Lucas and Lombardi; Clark and Sukeforth.

Philadelphia, June 16—The Phils won a shortened contest from St. Louis, 4 to 2, yesterday, when a heavy rain washed out the game while the Cards were at bat in the seventh inning.

Whitney's first inning homer with the bases full tied the score at 4 to 4, after the Cards got away to a hard-hitting start against Ed Holley. Chuck Klein's seventh homer of the season, with Bartell on base, in the second inning, broke the tie.

St. Louis, June 16—Tony Piet's triple in the eighth drove in two runs to beat the Pirates 6 to 2 yesterday, and helped give Pittsburgh a 3-to-2 victory over the Braves in a series opener, yesterday.

The Pirates made fifteen hits off Ed Brandt, while Meine and Swift allowed the Tribe only five. The Braves' runs, both unearned, came in the sixth when Piet made a bad throw with the bases loaded.

Pittsburgh, June 16—The Phils won a shortened contest from St. Louis, 4 to 2, yesterday, when a heavy rain washed out the game while the Cards were at bat in the seventh inning.

ISRAEL DRAWS WITH FILIPINO

Seattle Bantamweight Puts Up Good Showing Against Clever Young Tommy

Seattle, June 16.—Young Tommy, hard-hitting Los Angeles Filipino, and Able Israel, Seattle bantamweight, battled to a draw in a six-round boxing bout here yesterday evening. Tommy scaled 150 pounds and Israel 122.

The Seattle bantam, spanked Tommy with a terrific left in the second round that dazed the Filipino for a moment, but it was about the only blow of the fight that amounted to much.

The Filipino battered away at short range when Israel frequently tried to hang on, and he missed a great number of wild swings.

Tony Portillo, Seattle welterweight, noted out Don Harrington, San Francisco, in a vicious clouting six-round bout that stole the show.

ENTRY DATE IS EXTENDED

Competitors in City Clay Court Championships Have Until To-morrow Night

Play Will Commence Saturday; Many New Champions Will Be Crowned This Year

Entries for the city clay court tennis championships will be extended until 6 o'clock to-morrow. A number of players are still undecided as to whether they will enter and the extra time will give them opportunity for further consideration. The draw and playing times will be made on Friday evening.

New champions will be named in many of the events as several of last year's winners will not compete. John Edwards has been transferred to Ottawa and will leave a gap in the men's singles to be filled. Don Campbell is favored to replace him. Noel Radford, number two on the Victoria Club team, will be watched as he is playing well and has recovered from a slump which spoiled his play in some of the league matches. Steve Jones is due to flash some form which established him in the junior ranks. Reg Corfield is playing very well and will likely enter the singles. Eric Leney, Duncan, is also a very likely entry and would swell the interest in this event. Tommy Forbes and Ross Hocking are two others.

Kingston Street are banking on besides Jones. Hocking has won the event before, Marshall Gordon, winner on several occasions, has a bad arm and will play only in the doubles.

WOMEN'S FAVORITES

Mary Campbell and Helen Campbell are the favored in the women's singles, the former defending her title, won last year from Helen. Mary will play with her brother, Don, in the mixed, while Helen will play with Ross Hocking. Helen Tallow Wilson and Hugo Raymond are entered from the Victoria Club and will be a strong team.

Interest will centre on the men's doubles also. McCallum and Gordon, long the outstanding team in these parts, will be the defending champions. Leney and Corfield are expected to enter, while Don Campbell and Noel Radford will make another hot combination. Kingston Street's chief hopes rest with Jones and Hocking, who are playing in their first tournament together.

Little is known about the entry in the women's doubles.

Entries are to be made to the secretary of the Kingston Street Lawn Tennis Club or to Tommy Forbes, 1010 Broad Street.

Trimdon Hangs Up Great Double Win In Ascot Gold Cup

Last Year's Winner Finishes Two Lengths Ahead of Salmon Leap in To-day's Great Classic; Ut Majeur Is Third; Cameronion, Last Year's Derby Winner, Finishes Third in Ribblesdale Stakes; Rose En Soleil First and Hill Cat Second in Close Finish

Canadian Press

Ascot, Eng., June 16—Brigadier-General Charles Lambton's six-year-old Trimdon, by Son-in-law out of Trimestral, won the great Ascot Gold Cup over the long two-and-a-half-mile route at Royal Ascot for the second year in succession.

It was the tenth double win recorded in the famous race since it was first run in 1807.

Trimdon raced to the finish line two lengths in front of Mrs. Arthur James's Salmon Leap, winner of the Coronation Stakes at Epsom recently.

The Aga Khan's Ut Majeur was third, another length and a half back. Nine ran.

The betting was 15 to 2 against Trimdon, 17 to 8 against Salmon Leap, and 7 to 2 against Ut Majeur.

VALUABLE RACE

The gold cup, which shares highest honors of the brilliant Ascot meeting with the shorter Royal Hunt Cup, annually attracts the finest of the long-distance horses and is worth about $20,000 in addition to the cup, valued at $2,500 intrinsically.

An Ascot yards-after finish resulted in the Ribblesdale stakes at one mile, but the crowd was stunned by the defeat of Cameronion, Derby winner of last year, who had been installed odds-on favorite. Ord Howard de Walden's four-year-old Rose en Soleil finished a short head in front of Capt. R. Wilson's Hill Cat, and Cameronion in third place was another head back.

The betting was 9 to 2 against Rose en Soleil, 7 to 1 against Hill Cat, and 8 to 1 against Cameronion. Seven ran.

A. K. Macomber's Gold Bridge, by Swanford, or Golden Boss out of Flying Diadem, won the Granville stakes for two and three year olds over the five-furlong distance by a length from Lady Ludlow's Greenore, with H. P. Clayton's Thermometer third. Twelve ran and the betting was 5 to 2 against Gold Bridge, 20 to 1 against Greenore and 100 to 8 against Thermometer. The race was worth about $9,000.

Lord Derby's Hyperion scored a decisive win in the important new stakes for two-year-olds, finishing the five-furlong test three lengths in front of Lord Londale's Nun's Veil, with Anthony de Rothschild's Outrider third, another length back. Twenty-two ran, and the betting was 2 to 1 against Hyperion, who is a chestnut colt by Gainsborough, out of Selene, 8 to 4 against Nun's Veil, and 20 to 1 against Outrider. The new stakes have been run since 1843, and the race was worth approximately $15,000.

SAANICH AND VICTORIA WIN Spring Upsets in Wednesday League Cricket Fixtures Yesterday

Former Hands Bays First Defeat; Latter Downs Five C's By Six Runs

Largely through the fine batting performance of Gibbons, who scored forty-two runs before being caught out by Oakman, Saanich defeated Hudson's Bays, city mid-week champions last year, for the first time this season in the feature Wednesday Cricket League match at Beacon Hill Park yesterday. The suburbanites gained victory by a margin of nineteen runs.

While they were accomplishing the feat, Victoria won its first match of the season against the Five C's, taking the decision by a margin of six runs at Work Point.

Booth with twenty-two and Scalle twenty-one assisted Gibbons in pinning down Hudson's Bays. Saanich's score was 100 runs, while the city team scored 81.

Hanson was high man for the storemen with thirty. G. Payne and Stenton also had useful total of twenty-five and twenty-six respectively. Gibbons also performed well in the bowling lists for the Saanich men, taking four wickets for twenty-five runs. Grant took the same number for forty.

SMART BOWLING
The game at Work Point. Penderay of the churchmen took seven wickets for thirty-four runs, while George Wilkins, who was called the "one-two" bet, the better who plays the quintela is called upon to pick the first and second wickets in every inning and is usually the man to take the wickets.

The money is pooled, as in the daily double. The operation is a simple one and one which ordinarily pays big returns. The tracks introduced in the new wagers are still operating the daily double, which proved so popular on North America tracks last season.

In baseball games many technical points arise that are not officially covered in the rule books. A case, for example, is that of a runner sliding into second base, trying to beat a throw which has been made to catch him after the batsman has become a base-runner, and forced the runner from first base. In this case the runner overrules second base. A similar play could also happen on a forced play at second base.

The runner is on first base, and the batter hits the ball, which is thrown to second base, but the runner beats the throw. In sliding into second he overrules the base, but touches it and is still off the base, the batsman gains possession of the ball and touches second base, making no effort to touch the runner. In this case the umpire called the runner out, stating that the force play was still in existence. Was the umpire right or wrong?

A ruling has been made both ways on this play, but Judge Landis, commissioner of baseball, who is now the authority on rule construction, has ruled that the force play does not continue when the runner overrules a base in trying to beat a throw, and must be touched before he returns to the base before being declared out. There is no doubt that this decision will be accepted as final, if for no other reason than to put an end to the controversy. Nevertheless, the decision of the commissioner seems most logical.

Interesting Technical Point in Baseball Is Now Settled

MUCH of the success and popularity of horse racing is due to the efficient work of the starter and his assistants. There is no official at a racetrack who stands so alone and so much on his own responsibility, as the man at the barrier who presses the electric button that sends thousands of dollars worth of horseflesh on their way towards the finishing line.

Once the horses are on the track they are absolutely under command of the starter. He has the power to fine or suspend, and yet must be sufficiently judicial in the imposition of penalties as to prevent transgressions and to avoid antagonisms. Starters get no applause for good starts, the only cheers that greet them are of the Bronx variety. Racing fans always seem to expect a perfect start. A poor one, no matter how unruly the field is, is something not to be forgotten, especially when one's money is on the loser, as that rears as the barrier is sprung or refuses to break.

The horse is never to blame. It is always the starter. Even though he has held the field at the post for what seems like an hour, in an honest attempt to furnish each horse with an equal chance, he is not to be grandstand Mr. Public does not realize the tense anxiety, and the eagerness to do the best at all times on the part of the starter and his assistants.

Hours of arduous toil are put in by the starter and his groundsmen, must that the public forget the fact that the starter is a man who has to be schooled to face the tapes, to break from the barrier, and to generally act with the calmness in the pinch, diplomacy and tact in every situation. Why "That Married Look?"—They Forget to Continue Their "Gay Adventure"—Morons Poor Life Partners—Runaway Boys Meet Hardships

DEAR MISS DIX—It is often said, and it is true, that you can detect the married people in any crowd by their staid, bored manner. Why is it thus? Why should married people lose their joie de vivre, their feeling that each new experience is going to be exciting and that life is gay and happy? Why don't they act as if they were enjoying themselves? MRS. J. A.

Answer—I don't know. I have often wondered about that myself without ever being able to find any satisfactory explanation. When a man and woman get married they do so because they enjoy each other's society so much and find each other so congenial that they are willing to assume all the duties and obligations of matrimony in order to be together.

This being the case, you would naturally think that they would have a bully good time when they stepped out together and that each would add to the other's pleasure and that they would be in gay and hilarious spirits, ready to laugh at anything. Just as boys and girls are when they are off on a lark.

Such, alas, is not the case. You can look over any assemblage of people and spot the husbands and wives with an unerring eye. At the movies they are sitting up in a grim silence with their mouths sagged down at the corners. At the theatre they are reading every advertisement and all about how the man about town is dressed and about Madame Venus's toilet preparations and all the other drivel in the programme. At a restaurant they are having a quarrel over the menu, and when you go driving with them in a car you think murder will be done before they reach your destination.

The why of this no human being knows. Marriage may not be all cakes and ale, but neither is it all dill pickles. The great majority of husbands and wives certainly are not such morons that they couldn't tell beforehand whether the women and men they were marrying were so dull and stupid that they would make such boring companions that they couldn't even carry on an interesting conversation with them. Most people when they go to places of amusement spend their money with, at least, the intention of having a good time.

Then why don't they do it? Why don't they laugh? Why don't they get some joy out of living? Why don't they look as if they were happy though married?

I think that one of the reasons for this melancholy state of affairs is that there is a general idea that when people get married they should "settle down," as the phrase goes. Married people feel as if they should take their pleasures seriously, and when you begin to do that you stick a pin in your little painted balloon and it goes plop. Lots of married couples never take any pleasure at all except what they get out of a dull routine life. They never take a trip or go to a place of amusement or eat a dinner outside of their own home.

They get into a groove. The woman doesn't know anything but her housework and the bills and the children and the husband doesn't know anything but his business and the bills and the children, and they can't talk cheerfully together because they have nothing new or inspiring or interesting to talk about. Hence the silent married couples that you see out in public.

Then husbands and wives don't feel that they are called upon to make any effort to entertain each other. When you get a girl out with her date she is working her head off to be bright and vivacious and make the evening agreeable and give him a run for his money, but wife isn't lifting a finger to pep things up for hubby. Nor is he trying to entertain her. Like as not he wanted to stay home and listen to the radio anyway and she wanted to go to a symphony concert instead of the musical comedy they compromised on, and each is taking a subtle revenge by spoiling it for the other.

Then you have to admit that a lot of wives are sort of kill-joys when their husbands take them out. Listen in on a husband and wife conversation in the theatre and, ten to one, in the midst of the most thrilling passage you will hear her whisper: "John, did you remember to turn out the light in the back hall?" Or: "Do you suppose the baby has kicked the covers off?" He looked a little cross to me. And at the restaurant it is always the wife who is reminding her husband not to drink coffee because it will keep him awake or not to eat lobster Newberg because he knows it disagrees with him.

All of which is a great mistake. Marriage would often be a success if husbands and wives tried to make it a gay adventure, instead of merely trying to do their duty. For marriage is like life, we get out of it only what we put into it, and we can make it either laughter or tears. DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—I graduated from the university a few years ago and am now taking a post-graduate course. I married as soon as I received my diploma and now find conditions unbearable, due to the extreme stupidity of my wife. She lives in an entirely different world from mine intellectually. I can't discuss any topic of the present day with her. She doesn't understand what I am talking about. I still love her, but the present conditions are unendurable. What can I do? L. K.

Answer—It seems to me that the only thing you can do is to endure your wife's lack of intelligence with what philosophy you can. You can't even hope to change a stupid woman into a clever one. There is no surgery that can put brains into an empty skull. Nor is her lack of knowledge and understanding a fault that she can correct. It is her misfortune. It is the limitation that nature put upon her, and she can no more alter it than she can the color of her eyes or the height of her stature.

When an intellectual man marries a moron who literally bores him to death, he is the one to blame, not she. He had the superior intelligence and he should have been able to see how little mentality she had and to realize that a woman who is silly and ignorant before marriage will be equally silly and ignorant after marriage and that she will be no fit companion for a man who reads and thinks.

Yet every day we see highly educated men marrying pretty little fools because they have a peaches-and-cream complexion or because they have some physical attraction for them that soon passes, and then we hear these same men crying out about their loneliness with wives who do not understand them, with whom they cannot even carry on a conversation and with whom they have not a single idea or taste in common.

But, after all, lack of sense is not a defect that a girl can conceal before marriage. Nor is it an affliction that develops after marriage. It is bound to be apparent to everyone who comes in contact with her, and if a man picks her out for a wife in spite of it his misfortune is on his own head. DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am a boy almost seventeen, but I have only the privileges of a ten-year-old child. I am not permitted to go anywhere except to church and Sunday school, but, like all other boys of my age, I want to have a little enjoyment of life. My parents say that I will have plenty of time for that when I am older. I do not go to school now, for I have been working all this year at our home Sunday, but he won't let me use any of them. There are plenty of nice parties I am invited to, but I am never permitted to go. I am thinking of running away from home, but I have a good home and could have a lot more fun by staying at home if I were only allowed to enjoy myself a little. What should I do? M. S.

Answer—Better stay at home a while longer even if your parents are so strict. If you leave home you may have your freedom, but you will also be free to starve and be without a shelter and all the comforts that you are accustomed to. You'll get over being sixteen and seventeen and eighteen pretty soon, and then when you are man-grown you will be better able to cope with the world than you are now.

And maybe your father and mother will realize what an unwise thing they are doing in denying you the privileges that all the other boys have and they will deal more reasonably and wisely with you so you won't be tempted to leave home. DOROTHY DIX.

Uncle Ray's Corner

Indian Legends

IV—THE CORN PLANT

Indians owed much to their crops of corn. Ears of the yellow grain ripened and were stored away to be used during long winter months. When game was scarce, there was still the corn to keep them from hunger. How came this blessing among men? The red folk made up more than one story in their efforts to explain.

Old men of the Iroquois tribe used to tell children this tale:

There was once a young brave who fell in love with a maiden; and the maiden seemed to him the fairest of the fair. He loved her with all his heart.

After a time the maiden agreed to marry the suitor, and went with him to his wigwam. The days passed happily—except for the fear of the young brave that his bride might be stolen from him by other warriors who admired her.

The husband's sleep was troubled, and he was easily awakened. One night he heard a light footstep, and sprang from his bed. In the dim light he caught sight of his wife leaving the wigwam. She was walking in her sleep! When she heard footsteps behind her, she broke into a run. After her went the warrior, speeding as fast as he could, in the hope of saving her from danger.

Far, far the race continued. The maiden was fleet, but at last her mate came within reach of her. Springing forward, he seized her in his arms. He was happy now, but his joy was short. By the light of the moon, he saw that he clasped not a woman but a tall, strange plant!

Because of her fright when she was awakened and captured, the bride had turned into a corn plant—the first which had ever grown. Her hands had become ears of corn, and her hair had become the silken threads which we may see when we gather the crop. Thus the red men wove a story to explain how the earth came to be blessed with crops of corn.

(This story may be placed in "Indian" section of your scrapbook.) To-morrow—A Salt Lake.

WHISKY EXPORTS INCREASE
Ottawa, June 16 (Canadian Press).—An increase of more than 140,000 gallons in exports of whisky from Canada to other countries during May is noted in a report issued by the Department of National Revenue. The total exported in May last year was 98,544 gallons, and last month the volume had risen to 236,698 gallons. Practically all the increase is accounted for in the exports to the French Islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon, south of Newfoundland.

Three Liners Due Here This Evening

Niagara Coming in From Australia and Emma Alexander From California Ports

SS. Admiral Rogers Will Spend Several Hours Here on Her Way to Alaska

The Ribbet piers will be busy this evening with three liners, one from Australia and Honolulu, a second from California ports and the third on her way to Alaska. All three ships will be at the docks at the same time, and all will have large lists of passengers. There will be 1,000 travelers aboard the three liners, which should result in considerable activity on the docks.

The Canadian-Australian liner Niagara, from Sydney, Auckland, Suva and Honolulu, should reach the docks shortly after 8 o'clock. She will remain here until midnight, when she is to proceed to Seattle.

She is bringing in nearly 300 passengers, including members of the Australian cricket team, who will tour Canada and the United States. There is also a party of sixteen students aboard from Honolulu, in charge of B. Beauchamp, en route to Alaska and the Yukon, in the course of an extensive tour which will take about two months. The party will spend a week on Vancouver Island and the lower mainland before sailing from Vancouver next week by the St. Princess Louise for Skagway. From there they will go to Atlin, Dawson, Fairbanks and Seward, embarking at the latter port on the St. Yukon for the Yukon delta.

The band of the regiment will make the excursion and will render selections on both the going and return trips.

Other passengers aboard the Niagara are Parker Maloney, former Minister of Markets for Australia, coming to Canada on a private business tour; Stuart McKay, son of H. V. McKay, a director of the Sunshine Harvester Works at Corvallis, Ont., returning after a business visit to Australia and New Zealand; Dr. Frank Stephens, a leading radiologist of Melbourne, accompanied by Mrs. Stephens; Dr. Olive Baillieu of Melbourne, Mr. and Mrs. J. Selkirk, Mr. and Mrs. E. Price and Miss N. Price, the latter party being en route to Seattle to attend the Rotary convention in Seattle after participating in a preliminary Rotary conference in Honolulu. They will disembark here and proceed to Seattle at the week-end.

A well-known Canadian aboard the Niagara is C. C. Croft, Canadian Government Trade Commissioner to New Zealand, who is going to Ottawa for the Imperial Conference next month. He is accompanied by Mrs. Croft, members of his family. He has much preliminary work to do in the federal capital before the conference opens.

Mr. Croft was present at the meeting of the Empire Club, which was attended by Hon. H. M. Stevens, Canadian Minister of Trade and Commerce, when the trade agreement between Canada and New Zealand was drawn up. Mr. Croft will continue to Vancouver by the Niagara and will spend several days there before going east.

FROM CALIFORNIA
The Emma Alexander will dock at the Ribbet pier at 10.20 o'clock. W. M. Allan, local agent, was advised this morning by Capt. G. A. Harris, master of the ship, she is coming in from Ensenada, Mexico, San Diego, Los Angeles harbor and San Francisco. For this port she has forty-five passengers, including a party bound for Alaska, and several on their way to Vancouver. The latter group will leave Victoria at midnight by the St. Princess Elizabeth.

The Alaska-bound party will transfer here to the St. Admiral Rogers, which is due from Seattle at 9 o'clock. She will wait over here for the Emma, and will leave for the north about 11 o'clock. The Emma will proceed to Seattle at midnight.

AIR TRAVELERS
People from many parts of the world have been using the air route between Victoria and Vancouver during the last few days. On several occasions the big Sikorsky amphibian has taken passengers over in the morning for luncheon in Vancouver and had them back in Victoria for dinner the same evening.

Among those traveling by plane between the two cities recently were: S. A. Lane, M. M. Buckley, Miss M. Roper, H. Fullerton, Charles Anstie, L. A. Gale, D'Arcy G. Marsh, J. Wilmet, Miss J. Thompson, Sydney Pascal and Miss Pascal of London, George F. Birks of Sydney, Australia, Mr. and Mrs. W. Tingley, Miss L. Watkin, H. Phillips, E. J. Davis, J. Watson, W. Longfellow, J. C.
